LOUIS PUNCHES HIS WAY TO TECHNICAL KAYO OVER CARNERA

Detroit Negro Sensation Smashes Giant Italian Into Helplessness and Referee Stops Bout After Two Minutes and Thirty-Two Seconds of Sixth Round

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer.

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, June 25.—The brown bombshell from Detroit, Joe Louis, exploded with shocking violence tonight, stunned Primo Carnera, mammoth man from Italy, into helplessness and possibly oblivion in six rounds, and left an amazing crowd of close to 60,000 dazed and shell-shocked in his wake.

Never once blinking eyes that were oval pools of black murder, never changing his expression, the twenty-one-year-old negro maimed the massive Carnera with a volley of rights and lefts to the head in the first round, kept him dizzy for the next five, then blew him down three times in the sixth. Referee Arthur Donovan mercifully stopped the battering to give Louis a technical knockout, two minutes and thirty-two seconds after the start of the sixth.

The size of the crowd, greatest since Max Schmeling won the heavyweight title from Jack Sharkey before 70,222 persons in this same ring on a foul in 1930, was almost astonishing as the meeting exhibition of the brown boy who fought his first professional fight only a year ago.

Receipts were estimated by promoter Mike Jacobs at close to $250,000, as the fight business, both financially and artistically, staged a great comeback from Jimmy Braddock's stolid heavyweight title conquest of Max Baer less than two weeks ago before a crowd of 30,000, paying $200,000.

Louis, all that the West had said he was as he knocked out eighteen men in the twenty-two fights he has had as a professional, spotted the giant sixty-four and one-half pounds and still had little trouble cutting him down as an expert woodsman with a two-edged axe would fell a monster oak in a forest.

Shuffling forward, his face in action as boyish and unmoved as when he sat calmly waiting for the new policy laid down by the council when drafting its budget that work be done to bring the public highways into a fit state of repairs.

Goldstream Park Opening Ceremony To Be Held Today

OFFICIAL opening of the Victoria Goldstream Park will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon when the Mayor and members of the City Council, together with representatives from various public organizations visit the park and hold a basket picnic.

Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, will make the opening address, and Mayor David Leeming also will say a few words, after which the participants in the ceremony will make a tour of inspection.

Searching for Dead in Quetta Ruins

Until the night of last May 31 this was a city of 60,000 human souls; a base of the Royal Air Force, and an important gateway to India. On the morning of June 1 it was a city of death and desolation. Earth tremors, which shook a region 130 miles long and twenty miles wide and wiped out more than 100 villages over that terrain, had snuffed out the lives of at least 40,000 of Quetta's inhabitants, including 200 Europeans and forty-three of Britain's airmen.

GERMANY PLEDGES SHE WILL ABANDON SUBMARINE TACTICS

Roads Programme Is Stayed Pending New Negotiations

AFTER consultation between Premier Pattullo and Hon. P. M. MacPherson yesterday afternoon, details of the $10,000,000 emergency works programme were withheld, pending inclusion of certain changes, the Minister of Works stated. Meanwhile the Government was unofficially reported to be re-canvassing a year-old offer by private interests to advance $1,000,000 for highway works, secured by bonds of the Province. The results of these negotiations were not announced.

Hitler Gives Great Britain Promise Never Again Will Unrestricted Warfare Be Conducted on Unarmed Merchant Ships—France Prepares to Scrap Treaties and Increase Ships

Extending Conversations to Other European Countries

LONDON, June 25 (AP).—Great Britain, with Germany's promise never again to engage in unrestricted submarine warfare in her possession, today made ready to discuss naval issues with France, Italy and Russia.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin informed the House of Commons that the three had been invited to send delegations to London, but evaded questions as to whether all invitations had been accepted.

WAITING FOR WORD TO GO

Japanese Decide Military Operations Are Necessary In Northern China

TOKIO, June 26 (AP).—Japanese military leaders decided early today in Hankow that military operations were necessary to clear up the situation on the Jehol-Chahar border and immediately ordered a Manchukuo detachment to attack "offending" Chinese forces, said a Rengo (Japanese) News Agency dispatch.

The decision was taken at an emergency staff meeting after Chinese forces were said to have fired on a Manchukuo border patrol commanded by Japanese officers.

READY TO ADVANCE
A Japanese garrison at Jehol city was already prepared for an immediate advance into China's Chahar Province and was awaiting only the word from Hankow to go, Rengo reported.

Missionary Women Are Moving Out

Text of Section

LONDON, June 26 (AP).—A dispatch to The Daily Herald from Addis Ababa said United States women, wives and daughters of missionaries, left Ethiopia today, fearful of impending Italo-Ethiopian hostilities.

The gravity of the situation was reflected, the correspondent said, when Sir Sidney Barton, British minister to Addis Ababa, received a last-minute cablegram from the Foreign Office cancelling his leave.

Mr. Barton, asserting his Government was pushing efforts for settlement of Europe's naval problems, said plans for further bi-lateral discussions similar to those which resulted in the 1935 naval ratio treaty between Britain and Germany had not yet been completed.

A short time before, Sir Bolton Byres-Moncell, First Lord of the Admiralty, evoked ringing cheers with the announcement the Reich had given her pledge to adhere to rules and regulations regarding submarine warfare in Part 4 of the London Treaty, regardless of the attitude of other powers.

MANY DEAD IN EUROPE

Freak Storms and Heat Wave Claim Many Lives

LONDON, June 25 (AP).—A heat wave swept from Bombay to Scandinavia today, leaving death in its wake. Stockholm, Sweden's capital, reported twenty heat deaths and a maximum temperature of 91. In Copenhagen, Denmark, the mercury reached the highest point reported in Europe today, 107 degrees, and the minimum was 91.

Even villagers from within the Arctic Circle reported it was unusually hot.

Fierce storms swept over England and lightning killed three persons. London wilted under a muggy temperature of 83 degrees while a freak hail storm of "lumps of ice as big as almonds" pelted Hounslow, Middlesex, fourteen miles away.

Two die in Poland
WARSAW, June 25 (CP-Havas).—Two persons were killed by lightning in violent rainstorms which hit Poland today. At Czartorysk 117 houses were reported destroyed.

ROAD REPAIRS CONTRACT LET

Council Authorizes Special Treatment for Twenty-Five Paved Streets

Twenty-five paved streets in the city are to be given a treatment of penetrating asphalt to place them in a good state of repairs, it was decided at last night's meeting of the council. This is in keeping with the new policy laid down by the council when drafting its budget that work be done to bring the public highways into a fit state of repairs.

The new treatment was examined in Vancouver, and found to be satisfactory. A coating, one-sixth of a gallon to a square yard, will be laid and bird-eye gravel poured on top and rolled in, thus filling in the cracks on existing asphalt pavements, and providing a nonskid surface.

The contract was awarded to the Carter-Hall-Aldinger Co. Ltd. at a price of 6.8 cents a square yard. The streets to be repaired cover an area of 98,000 square yards, but as to be treated is 70,000 square yards. The cost is estimated at $5,100.

Tennis Star Challenged By Reporter

PARIS, June 25 (AP).—Jean Borotra, famous "Bouding Basque" of French tennis, was challenged to a duel today by a well-known sports writer.

Dieder Poulain, tennis writer for the newspaper Auro, accused Borotra of "letting down France" by refusing to play singles in the Davis Cup competition, although he is now playing singles at Wimbledon.

Poulain today challenged Borotra by sending his seconds to the star at Wimbledon.

ROOSEVELT PROPOSAL PASSES ITS FIRST TEST

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP).—Despite sharp threats of organized opposition, President Roosevelt's proposal for high taxes on great fortunes successfully passed its first Congressional test tonight with a decision by the Senate finance committee to proceed at once with the bill's possible open hearings.

Declares March Will Be Resumed When Delegates Have Returned to Regina

Eagles Are Sitting in Convention On Beach of West Coast

LONG BEACH, June 25.—A convention of eagles is holding session at Long Beach. A huge dead sea lion drifted in on the sand, offering a rich banquet for all the eagles in the surrounding district and inland points. Thirty-seven were reported to be dining at one time, while many others had already completed their meal and returned to business and family affairs. Many venerable white-heads were noticed in the gathering, but there was no small representation of the rising generation, and no doubt many points on the West Coast were represented by younger members of the order. The visitors have been assembling for the past five days and if nothing else has resulted from the meeting, they have solved the problem of how to dispose of refuse on our beaches.

Federal Airfield Is Sought for Victoria As Part of Big Chain

Council to Petition Government for Assistance to Establish Landing Field—Neglect Accentuates Unfair Treatment, Alderman Contends

ESTABLISHMENT of an airfield here by the Department of National Defence in connection with its programme of laying out emergency landing fields across Canada will be sought by the City Council.

On a motion, moved by Alderman R. A. C. Dewar and seconded by Alderman Archie Wills, the City Council last night decided to petition the Dominion Government to assist Victoria in this matter, particularly in view of the fact that the Customs Department had issued an order that it no longer would clear commercial land planes in and out of Victoria.

Alderman Dewar, speaking in support of the motion, also moved that adjoining municipalities be given a copy of the motion and asked to endorse it, and that copies be sent to the Department of National Defence and to D. B. Plunkett, M.P.

ISLAND IGNORED
Alderman Wills pointed out that Vancouver Island had been ignored entirely by the Dominion Government in its plan to lay out airfields across the continent. Vancouver and several other Mainland centres, some much smaller than Victoria, had been given airfields, he said. Victoria had pioneered aviation on the Canadian Pacific Coast, contributing many fine pilots to the Canadian air force during the war.

Cozy Cots in Jail Appeal To Tired Ones

ST. PAUL, June 25 (AP).—Arrest under a new state law prohibiting endurance contests, 109 contestants and directors of a walkathon contest at New Brighton, near here, were brought to the county jail today. The prisoners no sooner reached their cots than they toppled into bunks and began to make up for lost sleep.

Laval to Fight Fascist Tendency

PARIS, June 25 (CP-Havas).—Premier Pierre Laval today declared war on pro-Fascist tendencies in France, which in the last several days have evoked fear among Leftist Deputies with a show of strength in two secret mass meetings at Chartres and Montreuil.

M. Laval, assuring a protesting delegation of Leftist leaders the extraordinary powers voted to him by Parliament for financial relief would also permit him to take strong action against a Fascist movement.

LIGHTNING KILLS THREE
ALBANY, N.Y., June 25 (AP).—A man, woman and child were killed by lightning today as bolts struck in two different localities, killing groups of persons seeking shelter from storms.

Evans Addresses "Army" of Manitoba Camp Strikers And Unemployed

NOT ENOUGH POLICE TO STOP ADVANCE

WINNIPEG, June 26 (AP).—The march of Alberta and British Columbia relief camp strikers to Ottawa will be resumed from Regina as soon as the delegation of eight reports to the main body of strikers, Arthur Evans, spokesman for the delegation and strike leader, stated here tonight during a two-hour stopover on the journey from Ottawa.

"I anticipate the march will commence again Thursday and we will arrive in Winnipeg within a week at the latest," Evans said. "We will likely travel by freight car, but, if they are decent to us, we will walk to the capital if necessary."

STRIKERS DEMONSTRATE
A crowd of 1,500 Manitoba camp strikers and Winnipeg unemployed demonstrated on the vacant lots back of the station prior to the arrival of the train from the East bearing the strike leaders.

When the train arrived the "army" formed fours and marched to the Market Square where they were addressed by Evans. The leaders of the strikers here, in company with Tim Buck, recently arrived Communist leader from the East, escorted the Regina delegation to the mass meeting.

Evans, speaking to the meeting, which had swelled to nearly 2,000, loudly denounced Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, declaring "Mr. Bennett nor a hundred Mr. Bennetts will not stop the relief camp workers going to Ottawa. Moreover there are not enough Royal Canadian Mounted Police in the country to stop us."

Gives Teacher Taste of His Own Medicine

ST. LOUIS, June 25 (AP).—Raymond Duncan, teacher at the Granite City High School, was busy at his "homework" today. In City Judge George G. Vest's Court he pleaded guilty of speeding. The judge said, "I fine you $10. The fine will be stayed if you return here July 1 with a 1,000-word essay on 'Safety.'"

CHEAP FUEL BRINGS CARS ON THE ROAD

MONTREAL, June 25 (AP).—From backyards and scrap heaps in Montreal, a new breed of automobiles are now seen puffing along the streets. The gasoline price war has brought the price of gas within reach of most people and those who could not afford to run their cars before are now bringing them out of storage and filling them up with the cheap fuel.

TALK ENDS IN NO AGREEMENT

Anthony Eden and Benito Mussolini Exchange Views With Great Frankness

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)
ROME, June 25.—Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy and Anthony Eden, British Minister for League of Nations Affairs, talked for an hour "with the greatest frankness" about Ethiopia this afternoon, but British and Italian spokesmen both said afterward they reached no agreement.

EXCHANGE OF VIEWS
An official communique issued after the conference emphasized the conversation was only an exchange of views. The Italian spokesman saying Eden made no proposals for settlement of the African issue and the British commenting that the "British and Italian viewpoints were fully set out."

No hint was given as to whether Eden had softened his stand, previously disclosed in authoritative quarters, that Italy could accept only complete solution of the East African controversy.

HUGH JOHNSON GETS ANOTHER BIG JOB

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP).—General Hugh S. Johnson tonight stepped into one of the biggest jobs of his public career—the administration of Federal work relief in New York City.

The former administrator of NRA was appointed in Washington as the city's works progress administrator, the announcement coming from Harry L. Hopkins, administrator of the $4,000,000,000 Federal works fund.

TROOPS GUARD TACOMA MILLS

Washington State Soldiers Patrol Streets and Use Tear Gas Bombs

TACOMA, June 25 (AP).—The Washington National Guard was in control of lumber strikers and pickets tonight in Tacoma, scene of Governor Clarence D. Martin's first test of his policy of guaranteeing complete protection to workers who return to their jobs under wage and hour agreements with employers.

Activities by strikers, Guardsmen and State patrolmen sagged into a lull during the day. The Guardsmen and patrolmen were ordered to carry out the Governor's strike policy.

Only one mild outburst of disorder occurred during the day. Guardsmen tossing three or four tear gas bombs into crowds of strikers, sympathizers and spectators to force them to disband.

The crowds congregated on the Eleventh Street bridge, main artery to the city's industrial section, is the heart of the trouble area. Three gas bomb attacks were carried out there yesterday to prevent crowds from blocking traffic and pickets from intimidating workers.

Spokesmen for the mill operators, who declined to permit their names to be used, regarded the lull as a sign of progress toward a general resumption of operations in the city's approximately twenty lumber and plywood plants.

Will Give Fishermen Borrowing Privileges Similar to Farmers

Bill Introduced in House to Establish Long-Term Mortgage Credits—Will Be Administered Through the Farm Loan Board

OTTAWA, June 25 (AP).—A bill to establish long-term mortgage credit for Canadian fishermen was introduced in the House tonight by Hon. Grover Stirling, acting minister of fisheries. It is designed to provide for fishermen in a similar manner to those made available for farmers under the Canadian Farm Loan Act.

The new measure, like the Farm Loan Act, will be administered by the Minister of Finance through the Farm Loan Board.

The bill would enable the Government to subscribe an initial capital of an amount not exceeding $500,000, which would be transferred to the board as required.

Conditions of loans are set out in the bill as follows:
"Loans shall be made only on the security of first mortgages on fishermen's lands not exceeding 50 per cent of the actual value of such lands and the buildings thereon as approved by the board. Provided no..."

WORK AND WAGES IN GREAT BRITAIN

Premier Stanley Baldwin Considering Industrial Policy to Create Employment

LONDON, June 25 (AP).—The Government is embarking upon a planned industrial policy as an aid to employment, political circles learned today.

Intensions of the Cabinet were learned when Sir Horace Wilson, chief industrial adviser to the Government, was transferred to Premier Stanley Baldwin's own staff.

The Government's recent decision to give railroads $40,000,000 (about $200,000,000) for improvement of transportation facilities around London, it was understood, was the first step on the general planned policy.

MARKET BERRIES Under Jam Board

OTTAWA, June 25 (AP).—The bumper strawberry crop now ripening in Canada will be marketed under the Jam Marketing Board. It was announced by the board tonight.

The regulating will not apply to berries sold on the open market to housewives, but will apply to berries sold to jam factories.

Details of the proposal were laid before Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture and Forestry, and the minister's sanction. Senator F. P. Smith, of Winona, introduced the legislation.

Carnival of Fun Is Arranged for Willows Grounds

Tourist Association Plans Four Days of Entertainment Featuring Old-Time Fair—Event Opens July 17—Colorful Contests Being Included on Programme—Sports to Be Held

VICTORIA'S charm will be exemplified in the "Just a Hundred Years Ago Fair and Bazaar" planned for the Willows Exhibition Grounds, July 17 to 20, by the Tourist Trade Development Association.

The tourist group proposes to roll back a century and, for a time, revive all the gaiety and freedom, all the lightheartedness, of a hundred years ago.

For four days the Willows grounds will resound to the thump and thud of quarterstaves, the twang of long bows and the whistle of speeding arrows. Color, reminiscent of former times, will be supplied by folk dancers, Morris dancers, clowns and jesters.

Old-time stalls and booths featuring the games of skill of a century ago will add to a picturesque mid-way.

On the running track and playing field, Archie McKinnon, Y.M.C.A. physical instructor and athletic coach, and John Baxter, secretary to Mayor David Leeming, will, with a committee, manage sports meets, where modern records may be compared with those of yesterday.

KLONDIKE DAYS
Evenings will be replete with old-fashioned tent theatre productions, band concerts and fireworks displays.

HEALTH

IN THE PALM OF YOUR HAND

It's as simple as that... getting rid of that headachy, bound to so many people from enjoying life. This condition usually comes from some form of constipation. You can avoid it.

"The palm of your hand" refers to the way thousands of men and women take Eno's "Fruit Salt." They pour Eno into the palm of the hand and dash the pure, white powder into a glass of water...

Eno quenches thirst, sweetens the stomach, neutralizes acids from foods. Eno frees the intestines from poisonous waste, cools the bloodstream, tones up the entire inner system. Eno is pleasant to take, gentle in action. Every effect of Eno's "Fruit Salt" is beneficial. Beant now to pour health from the palm of your hand. Handy size 50c; Household size 85c.

Will Be Rendezvous of Holiday Camp

THE new hut of the Vancouver Island section of the Alpine Club of Canada, whose annual Summer camp will be held at the clubhouse, Lake of the Seven Hills, from Saturday, June 29, to Sunday, July 14. These summer camps have always been very popular with members and their friends, and a large party will attend this year, judging by registrations to date.

While the hut and surrounding campus on the shores of the lake are very comfortable headquarters for the two weeks' outing, daily expeditions into the surrounding hills are part of the annual camp programme, not only providing enjoyable diversion but serving to harden the muscles and give a foretaste of the conditions that will be found by any who attend the annual camp of the parent club in the Rockies.

There will be a few overnight trips to Mount Empress (2,187 feet), which commands a fine view of the whole southern end of Vancouver Island, and to some of the other higher hills in the district. There will be a bonfire every evening on Bonfire Island—this being an occasion when all camp guests gather informally to share their day's experiences, join in community songs, and play round-the-fire games.

THINGS THAT ANNOY

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 25 (P)—Mrs. Lara Fluke Evans, 100 years old, says crooners are the only "thing" in "the modern world" that annoy her. "You can listen to these things only so long, you know," she said.

HUMOR IN KANSAS

KANSAS CITY, June 25 (P)—When a motorist wants five gallons of gasoline at one Kansas City filling station all he has to say is: "One Dionne."

A sign on the station reads: "One Dionne—five gallons—for seventy-nine cents."

UP TO THE PEOPLE

Sir—When the average Island trader and manufacturer looks back on the receipts at the City Hall have been steadily raining, until now the total of prepayments stand at $497,125.

This amount will earn in interest for the participants a total of $15,661, which will be applied toward the reduction of their taxes. It was pointed out that taxpayers still have time to take advantage of the 5 per cent interest offered on prepayments. Interest will be allowed, Mr. Okeil stated on all payments made up to September 3, when the bills become due.

Property owners have a month after that date in which to pay their bills free of any penalty. In October the first penalty comes into effect, and the penalty is increased each succeeding month until the total of 6 per cent is reached.

Compared with last year's collections, this year's receipts show an increase of $60,000, and there is now little doubt as to a new record being established this year.

Prepayment of taxes has nearly reached the half-million-dollar mark, George Okeil, city assessor and collector, announced yesterday. Ever since the tax notices have been going out, the receipts at the City Hall have been steadily raining, until now the total of prepayments stand at $497,125.

Property owners have a month after that date in which to pay their bills free of any penalty. In October the first penalty comes into effect, and the penalty is increased each succeeding month until the total of 6 per cent is reached.

Compared with last year's collections, this year's receipts show an increase of $60,000, and there is now little doubt as to a new record being established this year.

Prepayment of taxes has nearly reached the half-million-dollar mark, George Okeil, city assessor and collector, announced yesterday. Ever since the tax notices have been going out, the receipts at the City Hall have been steadily raining, until now the total of prepayments stand at $497,125.

This amount will earn in interest for the participants a total of $15,661, which will be applied toward the reduction of their taxes. It was pointed out that taxpayers still have time to take advantage of the 5 per cent interest offered on prepayments. Interest will be allowed, Mr. Okeil stated on all payments made up to September 3, when the bills become due.

The Voice of the Island

Letters for publication under this head must deal with the problems of Vancouver Island. They must be confined to 200 words and bear the name and address of the writer.

TRANSPORTATION COSTS

To the Editor:—The admirable articles in The Colonist are doing a good work in exposing the dilatoriness of public officials in developing this Island. This is evidenced by the poor transportation and mail facilities provided.

Evidence of this is shown when a letter posted at Osema, Sask., 1,300 miles away, and one mailed the same day at Nanaimo, only one hundred miles distant, arrived together. Similarly, a letter posted at Toronto and one postmarked Victoria arrived at Ucluelet simultaneously.

In respect to freight rates, a shipment of lumber from Victoria to this place cost more than the rate to Japan; while in another case the freight on lumber was higher than the cost of the material. A local man ordered a gasoline engine from Sweden. It was shipped to Vancouver via Panama. The freight from Vancouver here was three times as much as from Sweden to Vancouver.

If the road in this vicinity—Ucluelet to Long Beach—is a sample of Government construction, then it shows mighty poor engineering ability. It could have been made on an almost level grade and covered the distance in nine miles; instead, it wiggles about, goes up and down, and covered twelve miles—six miles longer than necessary on a return trip.

CHARLES WOOLLINGS, Ucluelet P.O. B.C.

Western Producers Support Proposal To Control Grain

House Committee Told Wheat Pools and Farmers Are Hopeful of Passage of Measure Now Before Parliament—Back McFarland

OTTAWA, June 25.—Officials of the Western wheat pools came today to the support of the bill to establish a grain board which would market the entire wheat crop of the Prairies. They gave evidence before the House committee on the measure.

Paul P. Brett, Kenway, Man., president of the Manitoba pool and director of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, Limited, second witness for the pools and a "dirt farmer," said he spoke for the producers as well as the organizations.

All the producers were hopeful, he declared, the bill would be passed and Mr. McFarland would be first chairman of the board.

DEFENDS POOLS
Throughout the forenoon and most of the afternoon sitting, L. C. Brouillette, a farmer, and president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, defended operations of the pools and also the steps taken by John I. McFarland since he entered the Winnipeg grain pit at the behest and with the support of the Government to stabilize prices. He supported the bill in its entirety and would have been pleased had it gone farther and provided that when the board took over a farmer's wheat, it should advance him a minimum price instead of just a payment on account.

The measure, he thought, better suited the Canadian situation than the practice in Argentina. The present proposal is that the board would buy all the crop and sell it through exporting agencies. In Argentina the board only buys when wheat goes below a pegged price and sells it as soon as possible, absorbing and losses.

WHEAT SURPLUS
Mon. J. L. Ralston (Lib., Yar.)
It was no surprise to him, Mr. Brett said, the Winnipeg grain trade opposed the bill because it was quite possible the legislation would interfere in a considerable measure with their business. He was glad there had been a unanimity of opinion that the farmer should be helped.

Col. Ralston thought this was a pessimistic view, that Canada must pile up its surplus as long as Argentina had wheat to sell. Witnesses considered many factors operated and expressed the hope the wheat-producing countries would co-operate eventually. He would not tie the board down in the matter of policy. It should look into all factors and reach a decision afterwards.

Substantial Gains Made by Industry In Recovery Period

Private Endeavor Produced $371,571,255 Worth of Goods in British Columbia Between 1932 and 1934, Corrected Totals Show

BRITISH Columbia's basic industries increased by $35,000,000 last year since the nadir of their slump in 1932, corrected final totals indicated yesterday. Total production from lumber, mines, agriculture and fisheries in 1934 was worth $142,926,773, or approximately $3,000,000 better than had been estimated in December last, Federal and Provincial reports disclosed. The yield for the year was $20,000,000 more than the average of each of the three years between 1932 and 1934, inclusively.

Lumber took top berth with $45,461,000 as the corrected value of its products. Mining, surpassing agriculture, was in second place, with $42,305,297. Agriculture came third, with $39,826,141, and fisheries fourth, with products worth $15,334,335; for a total of approximately $143,000,000.

RECOVERY MARKED
These returns represented a gain of $13,500,000 for mining; a gain of $10,250,000 for lumber, and a gain of $5,500,000 each for agriculture and fisheries, from the extreme low points in 1932. Average annual production for the three years was $123,857,018, and the aggregate yield for the whole period, $371,571,255, this being a tangible result from private endeavor.

During 1932, lumber yielded $35,157,000; agriculture, $34,373,926; minerals, $28,798,406, and fisheries, $9,909,090, for a total of $108,238,332. In 1933 the aggregate value rose to $120,406,150; lumber contributing $39,155,000; agriculture, $36,647,007; mining, $32,602,672, and fisheries, $12,001,471.

INCREASE STEADY
Thus in steady progression the chief industries of the province have recovered part of the ground lost in previous years, though still far below peak values in the post-war normal year of 1926. The increase from $108,000,000 in 1932 to $120,000,000 in 1933, and to $143,000,000 in 1934 has been attended by some fluctuation within various industries, including shut-downs due to strikes. This year, so far as reliable figures are obtainable, the progress made in the past three years is being slowly consolidated, without any spectacular advances. Returns for the first quarter showed some gains, with reports for the six months' period not as yet available. Relief rolls are less than in last Spring by 15,000 individuals, while several thousands have gone back to work in basic industries.

FAIR GROUND WORK STARTS

Buildings Being Repaired And Shingled—Attractive Beds Laid Out

The task of preparing the various buildings at the Willows for the annual exhibition of the British Columbia Agricultural Association, to be held from September 7 to 14, inclusive, has been started. Workmen are now busily engaged repairing, shingling and painting, while many new improvements have been made to the grounds, W. H. Mearns, secretary, reported yesterday.

All rocks have been moved from the race track, which is now in a better condition than it ever has been, while the big oval has been completely drained, and is being prepared as a suitable field for polo and other sports.

The poultry and goat buildings have been reshingled, and men are engaged shingling the cattle and sheep barns. Number one to six horse barns also have been reshingled. In recent years, the Main Building, Manufacturers' Building and Women's Building were reshingled, so that the exhibition plant is being whipped into an excellent state of repair.

NEW FLOWER BEDS
Last Fall many young trees were planted about the grounds, and these have come along well, while the trees planted previously have shown a remarkable growth, enhancing the general attractiveness of the exhibition grounds. New flower beds have been laid out, while a long flower border and rocky has been laid out along one of the roads leading to the Horse Show Building.

An open area, looking onto the cattle and sheep barns, which heretofore was nothing but parched grass in the summertime, has been converted into a beautiful flower bed. The greens have been kept well watered, so that everything now appears quite fresh.

The various roads through the grounds are being patched in spots, and other general reconditioning work is being carried out.

TO ELECT NEW MARKET BOARD

Interior Tree Fruit Governing Body Will Be Chosen Early in July

British Columbia tree fruit growers in the Interior are to have a new election for choice of a three-man marketing board to handle their marketing problems, Hon. K. C. MacDonald announced yesterday. W. E. Haskins and G. A. Barrett, members of the present board, were in the city yesterday to confer with the Provincial Marketing Board and the minister on changes recently made at Ottawa.

The electoral college system of appointing board members by a vote of delegates is to be removed, and in its place the growers will have a direct say in the choice of a local commodity board, where balloting becomes necessary. Registered growers on one acre or more will have the power to name delegates, who, in turn, may nominate men for the position. Balloting will be conducted by growers directly.

By arrangement, the Federal Board and the Provincial Board on tree fruits will be of the same personnel. Delegates at the nominating convention will have power to say what remuneration will be paid to the commodity board and its auditors.

Arrangements for the election of the new British Columbia tree fruit board are now going forward, with July 12 mentioned as the probable date of the test.

CHACO WAR ENDS

An armistice has been declared in the war between Paraguay and Bolivia after three years of fighting, and credit for this achievement is due to a conference of Latin American Foreign Ministers, held at Buenos Aires. In this war Paraguay had a long series of victories. Early in the year the Paraguayan army had advanced 100 miles and driven the Bolivians to the north-west corner of the Chaco. Then there was a serious Paraguayan reverse in the hilly country near Villa Montes. Along the front of a huge natural amphitheatre the Bolivians established themselves in trenches. Their artillery was superior, and for the first time in the Bolivian tactics out-manoeuvred the Paraguayans. At Berube a very important victory was won. It was this change in the campaign that led Paraguay to adopt a more amenable disposition towards peace. The war really had reached a stalemate, and now both countries are anxious for a peace with dignity.

It is obvious that neither side can gain any material advantage by prolonging hostilities, and this augurs favorably for the terms of peace. The chief difficulty will be delimiting the frontier between the two belligerent countries. Why possession of the Chaco should be regarded so seriously it is not apparent to outsiders. It has been described as "an odious piece of country, alternately flooded and waterless, a vast jungle full of unpleasant ticks and fleas." The permanent solution of the dispute between the two countries depends on the boundary question. In any case negotiations have now taken the place of war after an expenditure of bloodshed and at a cost not worth the territory that was the cause of hostilities.

COMING PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

There will be at least two provincial elections held before the Dominion Government seeks a verdict at the polls. One is in New Brunswick tomorrow and the other in Prince Edward Island on July 23. The result of the former will undoubtedly indicate the trend of public opinion in Federal matters and perhaps have a moral effect on the political outlook. In Prince Edward Island the result can hardly have any bearing on Federal thought. Premier W. J. P. MacMillan has been head of the Prince Edward Island Government since October 13, 1933. The Legislature consists of thirty members, and the last general election was held on August 6, 1931, when eighteen Conservatives were elected and twelve Liberals. The standing at present is sixteen Conservatives and twelve Liberals, as two seats have been vacant for some time.

In Prince Edward Island every general election since 1915 has seen a change in the party color of the Government. There is apparently a regular and rhythmic swing of the pendulum, and if that happens next month it may well only be attributed to what has been happening before in local politics. On the other hand, there is general agreement in rival political camps that the outcome in New Brunswick will have a national significance.

CREDIT

Major Douglas and his friends are greatly interested in bank credit, and seem to think that bank credit is something that can be created out of nothing by a commercial banker. In practice, however, every line of credit estimated by a bank is represented by actual wealth, and before a line of credit can be established the banker must be convinced that the applicant has real resources behind him. The same is true when a social reformer presents his case at the bank or court of public opinion. The commercial banker's customer is required to produce a clear statement of his business affairs, and the social reformer cannot hope to gain the confidence of the public unless he has an understandable and convincing story to tell.

Major Douglas, well-known Social Credit enthusiast, is having some difficulty in his attempt to establish a line of credit in the banking-house of Public Opinion. The public do not believe that bank credit can be created out of nothing by the banker or by anyone else. They believe that bankers are merely expert estimators of credit and are required to underwrite it on definite terms. Major Douglas, it is true, does not ask the public for a line of credit as a gift, but on the basis of certain ideas set forth in his writings and speeches. Unfortunately, however, a good deal of doubt exists as to the practical value of these ideas, owing to the fact that their meaning is none too clear. The subject matter is interesting and his ideas are forcibly expressed, but clarity is lacking.

His friends insist that clarity is the very quality that the ideas of Major Douglas possess in abundant measure. They say that he "is by far the clearest writer in English on economics today, writing in language of wonderful precision and simplicity." This sounds impressive, but it is, after all, mere assertion. The public judge of the soundness of an economic programme in much the same way as a banker deals with a business proposition, not by the enthusiasm and self-assertion of the proposer, but by the actual facts of the case as far as they can be ascertained. The "line of credit" in both cases will be strictly proportional to the soundness and plain good sense of the argument. The economist who desires to gain favor with the public should tell his story in a plain and straightforward manner. To clothe oneself with obscurity as with a garment and add a condescending air and manner as a touch of color to the costume is mere folly.

The device of using vague and pretentious language in argument is a very old one. An eminent eighteenth century writer furnishes a concrete example of this sort of thing in the behaviour of two of his characters engaged in controversy. After much emphasis had been laid by one of them upon such principles as whatever is, is, a part is less than the whole; relatives are related, and the like, one contestant cried: "Answer me directly. Whether do you judge the analytical investigation of the first part of my enthymeme deficient secundum quod, or quoad aliquid, or give me your reasons." "I protest," said the other, "I don't rightly comprehend the force of your proposition, but if it be reduced to one simple proposition, I fancy it may then have an answer." "O, Sir," was the retort, "I am your humble servant; I find you want me to furnish you with arguments and intellects too. No, Sir, there, I protest, you are too hard for me."

In the same condescending temper an advocate of Douglasism remarks that economics is a difficult and complicated subject, and "therefore many, new to a subject of this kind, blame the difficulty in their studies upon Douglas."

WHENCE THIS MADNESS?

It is not only in Russia but in Turkey as well that there is forcible repression of religion. The attack in the latter country is mainly on Mohammedanism. The mosque of St. Sophia has been transformed into a museum. In Mexico there is also vigorous persecution of the Church, and in China an ancient religion or an ancient morality is steadily being sapped. In all these countries the insidious spell of Russia is at work. Communist "cells" have been established, "frankly atheistic," and their poison is at work. In Spain, where Socialism has got the upper hand, churches and convents have been burned.

There is, in fact, a world-wide assault being made by materialism, and whether it comes under the name of Communism, Socialism, Nazism or Kamalism, it is a revolt against authority and an attack on the majesty of God. There is a madness abroad. The modern cult, as one writer shows, exemplifies itself in ugliness in aesthetics, in architecture, painting, sculpture and music. "Whence," asks the same writer, "comes that incessant 'sex-appeal' shouted at us from press, poster and cinema rousing the young and innocent to the allurements of lust? Are not these all manifestations of some centrally-controlled cause? What is the Spirit that seems to be brooding over the globe, for we may almost hear the beating of his wings?"

Golfers know how their golf balls can find their way into many strange places, but there is a lot of speculation about how one should have been found, and in good condition, in Northern Labrador on the island of Nukusutek, a few miles to seaward of the village of Nain. It was discovered about 300 feet inland by a surveyor, and there is no golf course within thousands of miles. One explanation is that it was a ball driven from an Atlantic liner during practice, and that it drifted northwards past Greenland and was finally carried ashore by the Labrador Current. Another suggestion is that some searbird might have carried it there.

DOWN RIVER

It was at evening. From the river's breast A seagull rose on wings of pearl white, Flashed upward through the gathering shades of night, And circling once, twice, thrice, as if in quest Of points directional, or thus might test His strength, swung swiftly seaward on his flight.

And in the deepening dusk was loosed to sight, Leaving me wondering would dawn bring him rest.

I would such wings were mine that I might rise Up from the earth and, flying, follow him Out of the dusk into the daylight days, Until the surges' solemn requiem.

Was hushed along the world's receding shore And I was one with silence evermore.

—F. L. Montgomery, in The New York Times.

MR. AND MRS. BALDWIN

Mr. Baldwin is different. He has imagination added to "goodness" and to shrewdness. He has Pitt's distrustfulness, but he is no Napoleon, and his sagacity has outwitted, however unintentionally, all his rivals. But over all and through all is quality which can only be described as poetic.

At his side stands a Victorian lady, serious and fond of the old-fashioned ways and virtues. If ever her husband were tempted to stray from the path of honor and to traffic in the dusty purities of politics he would quickly encounter the formidable and uncompromising resistance of Lucy Baldwin.

Note and Comment

F. R. D.

It is not what he has, nor even what he does, which directly expresses the worth of a man, but what he is—Amiel.

We have again been admonished that readers of the newspapers are more interested in persons than in politics. Well, for that matter, so are we; but we are more interested in public affairs than in either, and the wise administration of public affairs depends upon the ability and the character of the persons we select to administer them. So apparently we cannot get away from the lexicographic definition that politics is the science of government, whatever we may think in the abstract of the politicians.

In the public life of Canada there are a few, a comparatively few, outstanding personalities. In the Parliament of Canada, which, like all things here below, is subject to dissolution and is slowly dying, there is one outstanding personality. No one will say that that national figure is Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King. Some may say that Hon. H. H. Stevens is destined to play an important part in the public life of Canada, even that Hon. Ian MacKenzie is justified in cherishing public ambitions; but in order to achieve distinction in public life, any political leader must not only be master of his own fate, he must be master of his administration if he attains political leadership. Sir John Macdonald was one leader of that type, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier was another. There was none other until the advent of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett.

Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King was Prime Minister of Canada for nine years, but he was never at any time master of his own fate or master of his administration. His character and political methods were correctly portrayed by a woman member of the House of Commons, a woman who is still a member of the House, when she said that if you wanted anything out of the Premier, you had merely to take him by the pants and shake it out of him. Mr. King retained power by dint of shifts and compromises. If the Leader of the Opposition has any policy on any subjects, he has been very careful not to commit himself on any of the subjects during the present or previous sessions of Parliament. His followers say that is evidence of his statesmanlike wisdom. The only matters upon which he has been frank are two. He has repeatedly said that a discussion on the pros and cons of the germ theory of disease should take place in his columns and submitted the names of some twenty fully-qualified medical men who would supply the cost of the article. The offer was not accepted, and the periodical in question thought it wiser not to disturb the beliefs of the public.

The more fact that men, holding the degrees of M.D., M.R.C.S.I., etc., dispute the germ theory of disease is sufficient evidence that it is not indisputable. G. B. KITTO, Vice-President Canadian Anti-Vivisection Society, 215 Sayward Building, Victoria, B.C., June 26, 1935.

DOUGLAS SOCIAL CREDIT

Sir—Mr. F. W. West is right in his assumption, in his courteous letter of June 14, that the Douglas plan for Alberta has no relationship to Douglas Social Credit proposals. And his statement of the latter is also correct, for which let me thank him.

In connection with the Douglas proposals for the Just Price Discount, Mr. West, however, appears to believe that without "abstinence from consumption" it would be impossible under the Douglas proposal for the Just Price Discount to provide "new money."

This viewpoint I believe, arises from a widely-held opinion that when money is saved, goods also are saved; whereas it is, I think, demonstrated in the works of several factual economists that monetary savings have no physical counterpart; this if saving of money should result in reduced demand for consumers' goods, then prices of the latter will fall to, if necessary, below financial costs and all goods will be sold and consumed.

Modern research has shown how remarkably small a proportion of capital formation is due to savings; that, as stated by Douglas, capital formation is due, largely, to creation of bank credit during the upswing period of the economic cycle. As Mr. West might wish to confirm this I have pleasure in pointing out that full information on the matter may be found in such books as "Controlling Depressions," by Professor Paul H. Douglas, and "The Formation of Capital," the third volume in the great inquiry into debt, production and money, by the Brookings Institute, edited by Professor Harold Moulton. But the best of all, in my opinion, is Dr. Basset-Jones' economic dogma. If these books are not available to Mr. West I will be glad to lend them.

But we have Mr. West's query, "Where is the money coming from?" Mr. West admits that new money is, at present, simply created in the form of debt to our banking system, based on the real credit of the country, or its ability to produce and distribute physical wealth. Now Douglas Social Credit proposes that no change be made in this method

WORLD'S HIGHEST MAJOR FALLS

Sir—Reading Mr. Brander's letter in the Sunday edition of your paper, I wondered if any of your readers could tell me who discovered the Kaituma Falls in British Guiana. These wonderful falls (until recently, remain comparatively unknown, although they are five times the height of Niagara Falls. The Potaro River, plunging over a curving ledge of sandstone, forms an unbroken fall of 750 feet.

EARWIG BAIT

Sir—May I ask readers of your paper, who use earwig bait, to mix it with bran and not meat, as some people do. Our little Scotty died of earwig-bait poisoning. She was liked by everyone; also she was a regular attendant at Oaklands School where she took my sister. I am sending this letter to help save other dogs, as we know how much we all miss Scotty.

THE GERM THEORY

Sir—Every scientific man knows that doubt exists regarding the germ theory of disease. The public imagines that "science" is something so mysterious and wonderful that only a few can comprehend it. This is not the case. Any intelligent person can inform himself. However single-minded individual members of any profession may be, every occupation which offers great emoluments has, at times, developed into a "racket." This applies to politics, religion, great charitable organizations, science and commerce. Probably no single quasi-scientific theory has attracted a greater burden on the public purse than the germ theory, with its attendant commercial developments in vaccines and serums, and the public is awakening to this fact and is entitled to all information.

Recently (December, 1931, to January, 1932), I suggested to the Canadian Medical Association and to a well-known Canadian scientist, that a discussion on the pros and cons of the germ theory of disease should take place in his columns and submitted the names of some twenty fully-qualified medical men who would supply the cost of the article. The offer was not accepted, and the periodical in question thought it wiser not to disturb the beliefs of the public.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of June 26, 1885.)

Work Progress—The trestle, 1,000 feet in length, near Pearson's Bridge, for the Island Railway, is now completed, and is a very creditable piece of work. Workmen are now engaged in building the Okefenokee Road, which will render it unnecessary for teams to cross the railway track between the Victoria and Nanaimo stations. The road is now almost complete between the commencement of the line on Esquimalt Harbor and Millstream, there being a piece of trestle to put in near the Four Mile House.

Stranger Premonition—We hear that Mr. Brander has pre-empted the fact, that the southeast corner of James Bay Bridge overlooking the rocks, Mr. Brander insists that this piece of land was never alienated by the Government. It was reserved for the Crown and is now open to pre-emption. The lot is worth $5,000 or $7,000, and it is the intention of the pre-emptor to erect a store there. It is possible, however, that the Government of Canada will have something to say about it.

Annual Visit—This morning at 4 o'clock carriages will be in waiting to convey the Worshipful Master, the city fathers, city officials and members of the fourth estate to the waters at Elk Lake. We wish them a pleasant time and would request them not to drink too much water.

to four complete months of every year. At this rate, if we last until the age of sixty, we will have wasted at the very least twenty years in almost complete oblivion of the world that is passing round us. It is a most distressing thought, but what are we to do about it? The magazine does not say—J. E. M. B.

And Then Keep on Going

Well they've finally decided to do something about Cook Street; but since they have gone this far, why half do the job? The announcement is given out that the corduroy road will be repaired from Fairfield to Belmont north to Rockland Avenue. That's fine; but what about south of Fairfield road. Is that outside the city limits? If the portion of the road from Fairfield north to Rockland need repairing, the road surface along the street car tracks south to Oliphant Street is an alpine climber's nightmare. Go south city fathers, go south—W. I. F.

A Policeman's Farewell

"Well, old man, you have outlived your usefulness. You must be discarded to make way for more modern equipment in this modern day and age." No, ladies and gentlemen, this is not an address being given before men who have reached the retirement age, but just my impressions of a Victoria policeman saying goodbye to the old, yes, faded, stop and go sign, which for many a day has done faithful service at the corner of Douglas and Yates Streets.—S. T.

Yes! We've Been Embarrassed

Have you ever spoken to someone on the spur of the moment and found it wasn't the person you expected? Or have you snatched into a store, ordered something and then found you had left your money at home? It makes you feel so small you could crawl under a snake.—W. J. H.

An Old, Old Story

It's pretty hard to find anything "new under the sun." Even deceptions are an old, old story, apparently. At any rate, I am told they are mentioned in the early books of the Bible. Probably you gentlemen who are reading this, don't the following look like something that might have been written yesterday: "It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years—not in the lifetime of most men who read this paper—has there been so much grace and

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

PRIDE IN VICTORY

In offering my readers a variety of hands played by expert and good players, I find the prevailing tendency lies in playing contracts of no trump. As everyone knows, the no trump contracts are much harder of fulfillment than suit contracts and psychologically, players of skill find great satisfaction in the fulfillment of the more difficult contracts.

1. North has a choice between bidding one spade and making a taken double.

2. Many players will make a penalty double of the one-spade bid with about this strength. But experience shows the double to be usually a blank cartridge.

3. North seeks a way of showing South that he has real values. An assist of the no trump bid on a single diamond stopper seems inferior to the simple spade rebid.

4. And now a double would be dangerous, because it might induce West to double a no trump contract by South on the assumption that East can win two or three tricks.

THE PLAY

West opened the king of hearts, which was allowed to hold. He continued with the jack of hearts and again all other hands played low. He shifted to the ten of spades and North won with the ace.

Declarer saw that the precise plan for the development of the hand depended upon the adverse pattern. In an effort to get a count on the West hand he cashed the king and ace of clubs. Since

West followed to both rounds it was possible to mark his pattern with one card. If he held any single black card it was a spade, and the remainder or his entire hand was red. Declarer took stock of his tricks—three clubs, two spades, one heart and one established diamond. He would have to develop two more tricks.

The next lead was the six of diamonds, on which South played the queen. The point of the lead was that in order to prevent the development of two diamond tricks, by straight leads West would have to win with the ace. But if he were completely bailed out of black cards, West would have to give declarer an extra trick in one red suit or the other by his return lead.

Declarer would have liked to cash the king of spades in order to be sure of stripping West of red cards. But he could not do this play, as he saw he would have to depend on his major spade tenace for the ninth trick.

West won the diamond queen with the ace and took his best chance of the return by leading the diamond jack, hoping to drop the ten. North won with the king, and a third round of the suit to the ten-spot put South in to cash the ace of hearts. South continued with the queen of clubs, and the fourth round of clubs stuck East in the lead. East was compelled to lead into the king-jack of spades, giving South nine tricks.

PEACE POLL IS STRONGLY FOR LEAGUE

Unique Ballot of British Public Shows Opposition To War

MILLIONS VOTE IN REFERENDUM

LONDON, June 25 (P)—A huge public demonstration in London will climax a seven months' poll of British public opinion regarding the League of Nations, disarmament and international collective security proposals.

The campaign, first of its kind ever conducted, and the first national referendum in this country, is at an end, and the final vote is now being tabulated.

Results will be announced at a mass meeting to be held in Albert Hall June 27. The League of Nations Union and nearly forty other organizations sponsored the peace ballot.

RESULTS OF POLL
The results are as follows:
For adherence to the League of Nations, 9,711,100, and 302,550 against 97 per cent affirmative.
For collective security by economic or non-military measures against an aggressor nation, 8,766,758, and 552,024 against 94 per cent affirmative.

For general disarmament, 9,173,674, and 739,779 against (93.55 per cent affirmative).
For abolition of naval and military aircraft, 8,349,939, and 1,470,294 against (85 per cent affirmative).
AGAINST AGGRESSOR
For military measures against an aggressor nation, 5,920,570, and 2,053,024 against (74.3 per cent affirmative).

Speakers of the Albert Hall demonstration are expected to call attention to the fact a larger percentage of "yes" votes were cast for abolition of private arms manufacture than for disarmament.
Figures for the poll on abolition of private arms manufacture and disarmament will not be disclosed before the Albert Hall meeting. Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, one of the authors of the League of Nations Covenant and "father" of the peace ballot campaign, will announce the final totals. He will be followed on the Albert Hall platform by the Archbishop of Canterbury, President F. W. Norwood, of the Free Church Council; the Earl of Home, Mrs. Corbett Ashby, the woman publisher, and Walter Citrine, general secretary of the Trade Union Congress.

FOLLOW ADVICE OF COMMISSION
Bill Passed to Curb Unscrupulous Directors and Company Promoters
OTTAWA, June 25 (P)—The House of Commons struck a blow at unscrupulous directors and promoters when it passed a bill Monday recasting the law governing company incorporation and management. The bill, which was introduced by the Minister of Finance, Mr. Bennett, is designed to prevent the kind of financial chicanery which has been the cause of so much loss to investors in the past.

Among other changes, the bill stipulated company directors must pass a resolution that money received for paid-up stock was just and equitable. Then, if a court found otherwise, the directors were liable to the company for the balance. Secretary of State C. H. Cahan and Hon. J. L. Ralston, Liberal financial critic, agreed the change was the most drastic of its kind ever enacted by the House.

A law suit under the clause could be started any time within three years from the date of the resolution of the directors by a director, shareholder or creditor with the permission of the Secretary of State.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE LOAN BILL PASSES

Measure Provides $10,000,000 to Assist Home Construction

OPPOSITION IS VERY CRITICAL

OTTAWA, June 25 (P)—The $10,000,000 housing bill traveled a rocky road through the House of Commons today without division on third reading. The only speaker who had no criticism of its terms was Sir George Perley, acting Minister of Finance, its sponsor.

Liberals, Laborites and Conservatives took pot-shots at it, but in the only division which occurred in committee stage, Government supporters stood shoulder to shoulder. An amendment by A. W. Neill, Ind. Cons., to extend Government loans to house repairs was lost twenty-three to fifteen, with Conservatives pitted against a solid opposition.

DEAL DIRECT
On the suggestion of several opposition members, Sir George Perley amended the bill so municipalities could deal direct with the Government and not through a loan or insurance company. As it finally passed, the bill provided a fund of $10,000,000 under control of the Finance Minister. From this, advances could be made to a limit of 20 per cent on the cost of a house, providing loan or insurance companies or municipalities put up 60 per cent and the owner, the remaining 20 per cent.

Sir George Perley announced the interest to be charged by loan companies would be 5-1/2 per cent, with the Government rate, 3-1/2 per cent. This would represent a flat rate of about 5 per cent on the 80 per cent mortgage which the Government and the loan company would share in proportion to advances.
Provincial moratoria will not apply to mortgages under the legislation, the acting minister said, but he could not say whether the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act would apply. Neither could Solicitor-General Maurice Dupre.

VETERAN CHOIR MAKES CHANGES
Arion Club Elects New Conductor and New President At Meeting

The Arion Club, the senior of all Victoria's independent choirs, will open its forty-fourth season early in September with a new conductor, W. C. Fyfe, well known to the community already as the conductor of the First United Church. The matter was decided at the annual meeting of the Arion Club held this week at the clubrooms, with a splendid attendance.

The election of officers resulted as follows:
President, Thomas Kelway; secretary, W. A. Rhodes; financial secretary, A. Crane; treasurer, Alfred Hood, Jr.; librarian, Seymour White; assistant librarian, K. W. Symons; auditor, H. A. Cox; conductor, W. C. Fyfe; assistant conductor, P. H. Hughes.
Music committee: Messrs. Fyfe, Hughes, Kent, Clegg, Bennett and Simpson.

Management committee: The above officers and Messrs. Fred Wright, H. W. Wilders and Charles Conyers.

SUGGESTIONS
A number of suggestions were put before the meeting for the welfare and progress of the club, and these will be taken into consideration by the newly-elected committees.

It has been the custom of the Arion Club, ever since its organization in the year 1892, to give an open air concert, the proceeds from which are always given to some charitable purpose. As the concert given last year in Beacon Hill Park was so successful and attended by the largest gathering that the club has ever had, to the 1935 concert will be held at the same place on July 30, and the charity for which the collection will be taken up will be announced later. Herbert Kent, conductor emeritus, will lead.

Very warm votes of thanks were passed to the retiring officers, and in Mr. Sehl's report he referred in a well-merited and laudatory manner to the very efficient work of Mrs. G. C. Warn, the club accompanist, whose excellent, painstaking and sympathetic accompanying adds so much to the singing.

TREASURER RETIRES
H. W. Wilders, who has been the club's treasurer for the past twenty years, was warmly thanked for past services on his retirement from that post.

Previous to the annual meeting a short special meeting was held and eight new members were elected to active membership.

The president, H. A. Cox, and the conductor, Frank Sehl, both presented lengthy and very excellent reports of the past season's work, which were listened to with great interest and called forth from the members a most cordial and hearty vote of thanks for their work during the past. The treasurer and secretary also submitted their reports, which showed that the club, in spite of present-day conditions, had come through satisfactorily.

"The impulse to meddle is usually in inverse ratio to experience, tolerance and breadth of mind,"

Havelock Ellis.

50 Years of Service

In 1885 James Maynard, opened his first retail shoe store. Located on Douglas Street, opposite the City Hall, this pioneer establishment served the public for thirteen years. Due to increased business Mr. Maynard found it necessary to move to the Odd Fellows' Block, and carried on a successful business until 1911. During this year another move was made, to the present location where Maynard's Shoe Store now stands. Today, as in the past, Maynard's policy of giving outstanding value and service to the Victoria public has earned for them a leading and enviable position.

COOK STREET PROPOSALS STILL FIGHT

Council Turns Down $3,000 Vote but Supporters Will Continue Battle

INTERSECTION WORK WILL BE EXPENSIVE

Another round was fought and lost on a decision by the proponents of Cook Street repairs at last night's meeting of the council. In the absence of Aldermen James Adam, Aldermen Archie Willis and Andrew McGavin carried on the fight for definite recognition of Cook Street. They asked that the sum of $3,000 be set aside for this work, but Alderman P. R. Brown, in a counter move, dealt a knockout blow to this move, which was saved, figuratively by the bell, in the form of an announcement from Alderman McGavin that the question would again be brought up at the next meeting of the council.

Alderman Willis struck the first blow when he staggered members of the council with the announcement that the work, already started at the intersection of Cook and Fairfield, would cost approximately $500. This was the figure that Alderman John Worthington had quoted would be all that was necessary to patch up the entire street. Alderman Willis' figure was confirmed by the engineer, G. M. Irwin, who stated that the work at that crossing would run between $500 and $600.

GIVES REASON
Alderman Willis pointed out it was because of this heavy cost that he wanted to see $3,000 set aside for Cook Street. If that amount was not set aside, the council might decide that it did not have any money left to finish Cook Street with, after completing the Fairfield crossing. The alderman then moved that $3,000 be set aside for Cook Street, explaining that this was not nearly as much as was spent on the Johnson Street extension, which, he said, he had learned cost $5,000 instead of the $1,500, which was the figure that had been quoted to him by Alderman Worthington.

Alderman McGavin announced he was going to stay with Cook Street, until we get what we want. I have the guarantee of Alderman Willis and Adam that they will stick with it, too."

GIVES ASSURANCE
Mayor Leeming pointed out that the executive of the public works had assured the council that the repairs would be done to the satisfaction of the council, but the Cook Street proponents felt the work would be made more secure if a definite money vote was passed.

Alderman P. R. Brown explained that the work at the Cook and Fairfield intersection was being done to ascertain just how much the repairs would cost, and moved that the matter be laid over until the next meeting of the council. This amendment to Alderman Willis' motion was carried, with Alderman Willis and Alderman McGavin voting against it.

BARRACK CASE IS CONCLUDED

Court of Appeal Reserves Its Judgment Following Arguments of Counsel

The British Columbia Court of Appeal, after hearing the arguments for and against the sentence passed on Lou Barrack, convicted of charges of living by the earnings of prostitution and conducting a disorderly house in Vancouver, and who was given eleven years' imprisonment on the two offences, reserved its judgment yesterday.

The charges against Joe Celona, who was for review by the court this morning.

A question which gave the court considerable trouble in the Barrack case was as to whether circumstances introduced into the category of corroborative evidence where the latter class of evidence was required in order to secure a conviction.

Dugald Donaghy, K.C., for the Crown, and G. L. Macpherson, for the appellant, said that they had not found any authorities to satisfy themselves on this point.

Mr. Justice Martin pointed out that the court was anxious to have any authorities on this question.

POINTS TO CORROBORATION
Mr. Donaghy argued that there was ample evidence of a corroborative character against the appellant. This was contained in the evidence of the police and in that of Perigo, the owner of the Windsor Hotel, the property used, who rented the place as the one who paid the rent monthly.

Mr. Justice MacPhillips felt there was abundant corroboration. It was an affront to intelligence to go on discussing it, he considered.

Mr. Donaghy stated there was nothing to complain of from the standpoint of the appellant in the charge of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald at the trial. If anyone was wronged, it was the Crown.

He argued that the two girls, who gave evidence, who were of the place, supplied evidence that could not be regarded as that of accomplices. These girls could not be indicted for the offence, owing to their ages, and, therefore, did not fall under the heading of accomplices.

Mr. Justice MacPhillips supported this view as the girls could not be prosecuted on account of their ages. Mr. McAlpine, however, argued that authorities supported the idea that they were accomplices. If it were proved they were of "corrupt mind" no matter what age they could be treated as accomplices.

Former Resident Dies in Spokane

Word received here yesterday told of the death on Sunday in Spokane of Mrs. G. S. Sturtan, a former Victoria resident and pioneer of Vancouver. She was the daughter of the late J. W. Trythall, a pioneer of Vancouver, and was born in Plymouth, England, in 1865.

At an early age she came to the Coast and in 1889 was married to George Stephen Sturtan. They were the first couple to be married in the first church erected after the Vancouver fire. Mr. Sturtan died a year ago in Spokane.

Mrs. Sturtan was well known in Methodist Church circles as an energetic worker and leaves a wide group of friends on the Coast and in Spokane.

She is survived by four daughters and two sons, Mrs. M. E. Milton, Mrs. D. E. Clarke, Mrs. Frank G. Gabriel, Harold J. and Arnold G. Sturtan, all of Spokane. She is also survived by two sons, Mrs. E. V. Smith, of Seattle; Mrs. G. H. Peake, of Vancouver, and two brothers, Howard J. and Roy T. Trythall, of Vancouver, and six grandchildren.

INSURANCE IS AGAIN TABLED

Industrial Committee Must Secure Sufficient Signatures, Council Rules

The question of taxi drivers being compelled to take out public liability insurance was brought up at the next council meeting, together with being an insufficient number of signatures on the industrial committee's report in support of the recommendation.

The matter will be brought up again at the next council meeting, when Alderman James Adam is expected to be back in the city. His signature will make it possible for the council to consider the recommendation, which is that compulsory insurance be brought into effect by the B.C.E.R. Company's claim that the existing taxi rate by-law was in contravention of its agreement with the city. H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, took the view that no action was taken owing to the B.C.E.R. Co. agreement.

SINKING FUND MAKES PROFIT

City Council Authorizes Purchases and Exchanges of Advantageous Nature

Sinking fund investments of a particularly advantageous character were authorized by the City Council last night, on the recommendation of the finance committee. On one deal alone the city made a profit of $800. The committee hopes to be able to make sufficient profit to meet the sinking fund requirements, which were not included in this year's budget.

The following purchases were authorized: $1,000 City of Victoria 5.5 per cent bonds, due 1938 at $98 to yield 6.25 per cent, and $3,000 City of Victoria 4.5 per cent bonds, due 1943 at $97.75 to yield 5.8 per cent.

Exchanges authorized were as follows: $5,000 Province of Manitoba 5 per cent bonds, due 1944 at $104.50, and $1,000 Province of Manitoba 4.5 per cent bonds, due 1944 at $104.50 for $6,000 City of Victoria 5 per cent bonds, due 1947 at $100. Also $20,000 Province of Alberta guaranteed Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia Railway 4.5 per cent bonds, due 1944 at $100 for $20,000 Province of Alberta guaranteed Canadian Northern Railway 4.5 per cent bonds, due 1943 at $97. It was on this latter exchange that the city made a profit of $800.

BODY IS IDENTIFIED

VANCOUVER, June 25 — The body of a man pulled from the body of Fane Creek has been identified as that of Ira McCance, thirty-two, who was drowned May 24 when the sailboat in which he was riding with a man and a woman capsized off Kitilano Beach.

City and District

Sussex Fellowship—The picnic of the Sussex Fellowship, originally proposed for Dominion Day, has been postponed until a later date.

Club Holds Picnic—The Y.M.C.A. Camera Club held a picnic at Weir's Beach on Sunday. Swimming, baseball and other games were played, and a community supper enjoyed.

Beer Sale Ordered—Following an affirmative plebiscite in the Beaton polling division of Kaslo-Slocan area, the Government yesterday legalized sale of beer by the glass in licensed premises there.

Oxford Group Meeting—A fellowship hour for all men and women interested in the Oxford Group Movement will be held in the upper room, 617 Fort Street, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Oil Tank—Permission to install a fuel oil tank of 3,710 barrels capacity at its depot was granted to the Shell Oil Company by the City Council last night.

Call Tenders—Tenders for the supply of two one-and-a-half-ton trucks and a motorcycle were authorized to be invited by the City Council last night.

Fire in Park—The fire department was called out at 9:30 o'clock last evening to a small fire in hay stacked up in Beacon Hill Park. Firemen believed the blaze was caused by a light cigarette stub.

Licenses Restored—Lapsed timber licenses were restored by the Province yesterday to Martin S. Caine and Thomas Mathews, on payment of fees and charges of $714 and $657, respectively.

Omineca Member Visiting—A. M. Manson, K.C., M.P.P., was in the city briefly yesterday from the Mainland, where he will act as a delegate called on Provincial officials, but said his visit was without special significance.

City School Board—A special meeting of the city school board will be held this evening at 8 o'clock to wind up business affecting the closing of schools at the summer recess. Most of the matters on the agenda dealt entirely with the staff.

Noxious Weeds—In keeping with a recommendation from the Victoria Horticultural Society, the City Council last night authorized that single relief men be put to work removing weeds from vacant property throughout the city.

To Clean Lake—The Kapour Lumbe Company will be asked to clean Jack Lake in keeping with its agreement with the city. It was decided by the City Council last night. The work must be done in time to have the timber dry enough to burn when the wet season starts.

Garbage Question—Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter informed the City Council last night that the health committee would bring in a complete report on its investigations into the garbage question, together with recommendations, at the next meeting of the council.

Insurance Talk—Thirty-five members of Victoria and District Life Underwriters' Association gathered in Speedie's Cafe during a luncheon yesterday to hear J. P. McCay, C.I.U., discuss "What Can a Man Make in Life Insurance." The insurance men will not meet again during the summer months.

Bridge Officials Here—J. A. Collins and other officials of the Fraser River Bridge Company were in the city yesterday to see Hon. F. M. Macpherson, Minister of Public Works, in connection with the proposed day that Federal approval of the toll project had not yet been received.

Again Adjourned—Edward Lore, charged with having assaulted a female, causing actual bodily harm, was again remanded in the city court yesterday morning until next Tuesday. C. L. Harrison, the prosecutor, said that the witnesses needed had not yet been found and he therefore asked a further remand awaiting their return.

Administrator Replaced—By Government order yesterday, the resignation of Donald McCallum, official administrator at Grand Forks, as part of Yale County, was accepted, and George Charlton Egg appointed in his place, under $4,000 bond, effective June 24. F. A. E. Manning, of Spout Lake, was made a notary public.

He returned to the Mainland on the midnight boat and after a few days in Vancouver, will proceed to his headquarters in the Manitoba capital.

Thief Escapes—Trying out a new automobile at 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning, Horace W. Gladding, motor manager of the National Motor Company, Ltd., sighted a machine that had been stolen from the garage Monday evening. He gave chase past St. Joseph's Hospital and through part of Fairfield until the thief abandoned the automobile near the corner of Moss and Bond streets and made good his escape.

To Visit Victoria—On the S.S. Empress of Canada, due here on July 3, there will be among the passengers Governor Parle, of Cambodia, French Indo-China, Ed Hodgson, of this city, has received word of his coming through mutual friends in Paris, and has been advised by friends of the Governor who are interested with Mr. Hodgson in the Franco-Canadian Oil Company to afford the visitor every opportunity of seeing this part of Canada on his stay here.

Survey Party Away—Under F. C. Swannell, a provincial survey party left this week for Fort St. James, with plans to fly into Finlay Forks for the commencement of a season of triangulation surveys in that area for the British Columbia. In a two-hour plane trip the party will obviate what would otherwise have been a month's journey by pack horse. The party is hoping to complete triangulation work on an area of 800 miles at the head of the Finlay River.

Market Control—On Control of lettuce and new potatoes by the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board was launched yesterday in Victoria. Commercial producers, in the control scheme, was in the city yesterday in connection with the matter.

In County Court—Judge A. M. Harper was occupied yesterday in the County Court here with the hearing of evidence in two actions which are being taken together for him. One of these is Perpetua vs. Massa Singh and the other Ditto vs. Massa Singh. The cases have to do with the financial dealings between the parties. Some $600 is involved in the claims made. The first of the cases was concluded, with the court reserving judgment. The case in which Ditto appears as plaintiff was adjourned for a later date to be fixed. P. C. Elliott appeared for the plaintiffs, and R. C. Lowe for the defendants.

Instructors Named—Ben R. Barlow, Vancouver; N. C. Larsen, Quenael, and J. C. McGregor, Nanaimo, have been named instructors under the British Columbia placer mining training camp scheme now being launched. They will be in charge of camps of young men at Emery Creek, Quenael, and on the Nanaimo River, respectively. James Bennett, of Nanaimo, will act as assistant instructor at the Vancouver Island camp. Upwards of 100 applications were filed for enrollment in the scheme at Vancouver, and twenty-five at Victoria.

Mr. Bleek spoke of the duration of the known oil fields of Burma where the Sassoon interests have large holdings. He said a conservative estimate of the producing age of wells there at the present rate of output, thirty thousand barrels a day, is ninety years.

Regarding the development of oil from shales, the oil expert stated that the cost of production was against its recovery commercially. The process of recovery made it prohibitive at the present time while the equipment to extract the oil was controlled by the oil companies.

Mr. Bleek, who had spent thirty-one years in Burma and India, knows the latter country intimately. Of the Indian Bill, framed for the purpose of giving the natives self-government, he said was most constructive. It was at the same time carefully considered to give full protection and prevent serious upsets.

GERMANY ABANDONS SUBMARINE TACTICS
While Great Britain, Japan, United States, France and Italy signed the London Treaty, he pointed out the first three are "juridically bound" by it, "because France and Italy did not ratify it." Aneurin Bevan, Labor Party member, asked whether any warning nation on the verge of defeat would abide by treaty provisions if that meant losing the war.

"That would be the policy of despair," Sir Bolton retorted, while meaning no treaty could be made with anybody; that would mean a return to jungle war."

SCRAPS TREATIES
(Copyright, 1935, by The Hayes Agency)
PARIS, June 25. — The scrapping of important existing naval treaties was forecast, in a resolution adopted by the naval affairs committee of the Chamber of Deputies, which invited the Government to take "all useful measures" to strengthen France's naval power in the Mediterranean and the Atlantic.

France will not be caught napping, Minister of Marine Francois Pietri assured the committee, and he explained the French fleet equals 50 per cent of the British fleet, if vessels still on the ways are included.

Among the French ships, Minister Pietri said, are capital ships whose combination of offensive and defensive strength and mobility have never been equalled in any other navy.

TEXT OF MOTION
The text of the resolution said: "The committee, noting the naval agreement concluded between Great Britain and Germany annuls the naval provisions of the Versailles Treaty, and considering the Washington Treaty was accepted by France only by reason of the provisions of that treaty, feels the consequence of the signature of the naval agreement between Great Britain and Germany is necessarily entire freedom for France in naval

MRS. C. D. HAYMAN TAKEN BY DEATH
Mrs. Charlotte Danby Hayman, aged seventy-five years, passed away yesterday at her residence, 2083 Byron Street. She was born in London, England, and had resided here since 1921.

In her youth she was known as a gifted singer, singing in oratorio and concert work with great success in England, Africa and Belgium. Mrs. Hayman came to Canada in 1909 and made her home in Edmonton for twelve years. She became known in the musical world there as well as Red Cross work, nursing and training V.A.D.s for overseas service during the Great War.

She was the widow of A. G. Hayman, and her only son, Danby, died from war wounds. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. G. N. Mowatt and Mrs. Ruth Valiant, two granddaughters and a grandson, all in Victoria, and a sister in England.

Funeral services will be conducted at McGill Bros' Funeral Home tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. Rev. Dr. Gerald B. Switzer officiating. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Canadians Are Presented To Be Married in August

At Buckingham Palace
Her Majesty the Queen and the Duke of Kent Lead
Royal Procession at Third Court of London
Season—Scene of Splendor

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, June 25.—Buckingham Palace became a scene of glittering splendor tonight as the third Royal Court of the season was held. Eighteen Canadian women were among the notables who curtsied before the Queen.

The King was still resting at Sandringham, in Norfolk. He was expected back in London later this week, but did not plan to attend tomorrow's court.

THE QUEEN'S GOWN

The Queen wore a gown of pale green and silver satin with a bodice embroidered in diamonds and crystals and an embroidered train of the same material lined with georgette.

For the first time the Duke of Kent, resident in a blue and gold uniform, led his mother in the Royal procession along the crimson-carpeted corridors to the court throne. In the Royal party were the Duchess of York, Lord Carnegie and Lady Maud Carnegie, Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone and the Earl of Athlone, and Major Abel Smith and Lady May Abel Smith.

CANADIANS PRESENTED

Mrs. G. Howard Ferguson, who presented the Canadian women to Her Majesty, wore a gown of pale green and silver satin with a bodice embroidered in diamonds and crystals and an embroidered train of the same material lined with georgette. Mrs. Rodney Keller, of Winnipeg, chose a blue crepe gown with silver thread and a train of silver lame. Miss Celia Lucas, of Vancouver, wore a white and silver lame dress on simple lines, with a white satin train, edged with ruffled net.

Mrs. Frank Duncan, of Kirkland Lake, Ont., appeared in a romantic gown of soft blue tulle with a full, billowing skirt, revealing an under-skirt of cloth of silver.

Mrs. Christopher Vokes, of Regina, chose a model of ivory satin interwoven with diagonal stripes, bias cut, and made with fullness from the knees, forming a fan-shaped train at the back. Other Canadians presented were Mrs. Harvey Black, of Westmont, Que.; Miss Pamela Browne, of Montreal; Mrs. Robert Cassels, Miss Elain Ellsworth, Mrs. Walter Green, Miss Althea Green, Miss Peggy Mackintosh, Miss Peggy Waidie and Miss Virginia Topping, of Toronto; Mrs. Barry German, of Ottawa; Mrs. Charles Homer Smith, of Niagara Falls, Ont.; and Miss Adelaide Harrison and Mrs. Rodolphe Timmins, of Montreal.

C.G.I.T. NOTES

The executive and the camp committee of the Canadian Girls in Training Leaders' Council held a joint meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. T. Hammond, chairman of the camp committee. Mrs. Maude Hammond, Mrs. R. Plumb and Miss Olive Lynn, who viewed the Y.M.C.A. camp site at Glinz Lake last Saturday with the Y.M.C.A. directors, presented their impressions and gave enthusiastic reports. Following a lengthy discussion it was resolved that this year's camp be held at the new Y.M.C.A. camp site at Glinz Lake in the 5000 hills from July 23 to August 2. Miss Margaret Ryan, of New Westminster, will be the director. Miss Ryan is the new girls' work secretary at the Y.W.C.A. in Victoria and she has specialized in physical culture and has previously directed a C.G.I.T. camp in the Interior. Mrs. Ruby Plumb was appointed as business manager and secretary. Other members of the staff will be announced later. It was decided that this year a fee of $7 for the ten days' camp would be set, which would include the necessary transportation. Registration will be received by Mrs. R. M. Plumb, 1638 Pinewood Avenue, E5572, or at the Y.W.C.A. desk. It is hoped that many of the girls will register within the next few days.

Weddings

LILLIE-DANES
The wedding was quietly solemnized yesterday afternoon in the Bishop's Palace, at 3 o'clock, of Mrs. John A. Danes, Yates Street, and of the late Mr. Danes, and Captain Eric Lillie, of Vancouver, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lillie.

Rev. Father Roland Roberts performed the marriage rites. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. D'Arcy Danes, wore a smart traveling suit of Marina blue triple sheer georgette, and a white hat, and carried a bouquet of roses, and was attended by Miss Beatie Turzooze, who wore a beige costume and a corsage bouquet of white carnations. Mr. Adolph Rochon was best man.

An informal reception was held after the service at the home of the bride's mother, where the guests were received by Mrs. Danes, in a gown of black flat crepe and hat en suite. The decorations were carried out in pink and white. After a luncheon on the American mainland, Captain and Mrs. Lillie will live in Victoria.

The bride graduated in 1933 from St. Joseph's Hospital training school for nurses.

CLUB GIES CONCERT

The Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club recently sponsored an enjoyable programme at the Otter Point Camp. The programme consisted of dances by Misses Ethel Gillis, Theima Stratford, Helen Beck and Thelma Ackerman, pupils of Miss Florence Clough; conjuring by Mr. Ernie Crookford; violin solos, Miss Eileen Bennett; recitations, Mrs. W. B. Crookford; vocal solos, Miss Ivy Bowles. Mrs. Hall, president of the club, acted as chairman, while the accompanists were Miss Helen Riley and Miss Beatie Crowther.

STUDIO RECITAL

The forthcoming recital to be given jointly by Beatrice Griffin, A.T.C.M., pianist, and Enid Cole, reader and dramatist, and their pupils, promises to be an evening of interest to students and parents. Jones Burns, baritone, will be the guest artist.

Cheminists Review

The monthly meeting of the Cheminists W.B.A. Review No. 19 was held in the K.P. Hall. Reports were given by the members of the committee covering the recent card party. During the Summer, meetings will be held on the third Thursday of the month and will be supplemented by socials for members only. The first will be at the home of Mrs. H. Knight, on July 4. The August social will be at the home of Mrs. Murray, the date to be announced later. The Junior supervisor will hold parties for Juniors only during July and August. Birthdays will be given to the boys and girls. Mrs. W. Goldsmith, the hostess, was served.

Children's Leaders' Council

The Children's Leaders' Council of Victoria held a Summer meeting at the Lake Hill Mission recently, with the president, Miss Middleton, in the chair. The devotional period was conducted by Adjutant Ede, of the Salvation Army, who gave an inspiring and helpful address. Suggestions were also given with regard to the several departments embraced by the council by a representative from each department. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting, when a social half hour was enjoyed.

Daughters of St. George

Princess Patricia Lodge No. 238, Daughters of St. George, met on Friday, with the worthy president, Mrs. Pocock, in the chair, assisted by Worthy Vice-President Mrs. Johnston. The mock auction was a great success. A lamp, offered as a prize in a contest, was won by Mrs. Keralake. Arrangements were made for a garden party to be held at the home of Mrs. Morrish, Burnside Road, and also for a picnic to be held at the Esquimalt Lagoon.

Navy League W.A.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Navy League will hold its regular meeting on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Navy League headquarters, Bastion Building. Mothers and friends of Rainbow Sea Cadets are invited to attend. Members holding books for the dinghy contest are asked to return them at this meeting. During July and August, meetings will be discontinued.

Army and Navy L.A.

The business meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Army and Navy Veterans' Unit, No. 12, was held recently, with Mrs. Young in the chair. A good attendance of members was recorded. An invitation to the annual picnic of Unit No. 12 was received, and all members wishing to attend were asked to notify the secretary and obtain their tickets.

Garden Party Today

Under the auspices of the Belmont Avenue United Choir a garden party will be held today from 3 to 6 p.m. in the grounds for the party at 2023 Belmont Avenue. Mrs. T. Glover will be the hostess.

Dean Bollert Will Succeed Miss Cooke

Succeeding Miss A. B. Cooke as educational secretary of the Provincial Chapter, I.O.D.E. is Dean Mary Bollert, of the faculty of the University of British Columbia.

Miss Cooke has held the position for the past eleven years and has done outstanding work as educational and war memorial secretary for the order in British Columbia. She also acted as educational secretary of Victoria Municipal Chapter from 1918 to 1933.

Miss Bollert, who will be assisted by Mrs. Bernard Hayes, of Vancouver, is one of the foremost women educationists of Canada and comes to the office well equipped to carry on the tradition so ably established by Miss Cooke, as she was one of the original members of the National I.O.D.E. committee which set the machinery in motion for the order's war memorial scheme.

VANCOUVER HEADQUARTERS

The change in the personnel of the Provincial officers was necessitated by the removal to Vancouver of the headquarters of the Provincial Chapter, as under the constitution the principal officers must be chosen from the city in which the headquarters are located.

It was in 1924 that the Provincial Chapter office was removed here from Vancouver, with the appointment of Mrs. A. F. Griffiths as Provincial president. Mrs. Griffiths remained in that office until 1927.

When she was succeeded by Mrs. Frank W. Sams, who retained it until this year, Mrs. Sams, of Vancouver, is the new president.

In addition to Miss Cooke, Miss Irene Terry, treasurer, was another who retained her Provincial office during the whole time the Provincial Chapter had its headquarters here, she being Provincial treasurer from 1924 to April of this year.

Several changes were made in the secretariat. Mrs. David Miller being elected in 1924, then resigning owing to ill health in 1928, when Mrs. Gordon Smith was elected her successor. Mrs. Smith held the office for five years, when she was succeeded by Mrs. P. E. Corby.

Mrs. Corby remained in the office until this year, when her resignation automatically followed the transfer of the office to Vancouver, and at the annual meeting in April she was appointed Provincial organizing secretary.

During the whole of its location here, the Provincial Chapter headquarters have been situated in the Jones Building, and the closing of the office ends one of the most interesting chapters in the history of the I.O.D.E. in British Columbia.

Beaux-Arts Elect New Executive

The Beaux-Arts held its annual meeting last night, when the executive was elected, as follows: Misses Elizabeth Edwards, Helen Eve, Jean Findlay, Constance Hobbs, Patricia McCann, Doreen McGregor, Mrs. Edward T. Simmons, Messrs. Mordie Christopher, Roy Denny, Lea McMartin, Richard Muirhead, Edward T. Simmons and Dr. John Mercer.

The president, Mr. Simmons, submitted a report of the year's work accomplished, showing much advancement over that of the previous year, especially in the dramatic section. Miss Doreen McGregor, the secretary, gave a detailed account of the various activities, and Mr. Denis Humphries presented the financial statement, which showed that more than $300 had been spent in dramatics during the past year, making quite a comparison with the $41 spent the previous year.

Plans for a picnic to be held this Summer were left in the hands of a social committee. Following the meeting, refreshments were served and dancing enjoyed.

Gift of Gold Being Prepared in Canada

OTTAWA, June 25.—The gift of the women of Canada to Lady Beatrix, when she returns to England in September will be a distinctly Canadian memento of her years in the Dominion. It was announced today. The memento will be in the form of a piece of plate, made in Canada by Canadian workmen from Canadian gold.

Little Stories for Bedtime

The Rescue

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

When Whitefoot the Wood Mouse made the headless jump that landed him in a pall half filled with sap, no one else was in the little sugar house. Whitefoot was quite alone. You see Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy were out collecting sap from the trees and Bosser the Hound was with them.

Farmer Brown's Boy was the first to return. He came in just after Whitefoot had given up all hope. He went at once to the fire to put more wood on. As he finished this job he heard the faintest of little squeaks. It was a very pitiful little squeak

Old-Time Resident Is Visitor

Among the week's visitors here from the Eastern part of the Dominion is Mr. D. J. Munn, of Montreal.

A brother of Mr. H. A. Munn, of 1003 Davis Street, Victoria, Mr. D. J. Munn is by no means a stranger here, having lived here for some time in the early 'eighties, before he removed to New Westminster, where he had salmon cannery interests. Until about the beginning of the present century he continued to live in the province because of business interests, but has lived in Montreal for the past thirty or thirty-five years, although still an occasional visitor to Victoria. He is here for only two or three days this time and is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

On this occasion he is accompanied by his son, Mr. Dan Munn, B.A., B.E., who is staying with his uncle at Davis Street. Miss Mary Munn, his daughter, a pianist of unusual talent, is to appear in recital at Queen's Hall, London, this week.

GIVING FISHERMEN LOAN PRIVILEGES

one person and no two or more persons having a joint or several ownership of the land to be mortgaged shall have by way of loan in the aggregate at any one time more than $1,000.

"The proceeds of such loan shall be used for the following purposes and no other: 1. To purchase boats or vessels, or shares or part interests in boats or vessels for use in the fisheries. 2. To purchase equipment for such fishing boats or vessels including therein the purchase of gasoline, crude oil or other engines. 3. To purchase lines, hooks, trawls, nets, anchors, bait, traps, and any other equipment or apparatus for use in fishing. 4. To discharge liabilities already accumulated. 5. Any purpose which in the judgment of the board may be reasonably considered as for fishing."

ONLY TO FISHERMEN
"Loans under this act shall be made only to fishermen actually engaged in or shortly to become engaged in fishing."

"The appraised value shall be based on the fair market value of the land."

"The interest rate on loans under this act shall be such a rate in excess of the interest rate yielded at the time of issue by the series of fishermen's loan bonds issued by the board as shall be sufficient, in the judgment of the board, to provide for the expenses of operation and for the necessary reserves for losses, or, if no such bonds have been issued, such a rate as in the judgment of the board will be yielded by the farm loan bonds when issued, increased by provision for expenses and reserves as aforesaid."

IN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS
"Every loan made under this section shall be repayable upon such terms and within such periods not in excess of twenty-five years as the board may prescribe: Provided, however, that all loans repayable over a period in excess of five years shall be repayable in equal annual or semi-annual installments of principle and interest."

"Notwithstanding anything contained in the Interest Act, every borrower shall pay simple interest on defaulted payments at a rate not exceeding 6 per cent per annum and shall agree to pay, when due, all assessments, taxes and other charges necessary to be paid for the security of the loan in respect of the loan and to effect such insurance as the board may require, and should such taxes, assessments and charges not be paid when due, they may be paid by the board and charged to the borrower, and if not repaid to the board on or before the next interest date with interest thereon at a rate not exceeding 6 per cent per annum, the borrower shall be considered in default under the mortgage."

TERMS OF REPAYMENT
"Except as provided in, and subject to, such regulations, not inconsistent with the provisions of the Interest Act, as the board may prescribe, any borrower may at any time repay the whole or part of his loan on any date on which an installment becomes due. When the payment is part of the loan only, it shall be credited to the borrower in such a manner as the board may by regulation prescribe, but so that no such payment shall relieve the borrower from his liability to pay or from continuing to pay, at the times agreed upon, the various installments next ensuing due after such partial payment is made, and until the loan and interest is repaid in full."

"If any borrower under this act expends any part of a loan for any purpose other than that approved by the board, the said loan shall at the option of the board become forthwith payable in full."
"It shall be a term of any mortgage taken as security for a loan under this act that the borrower shall, upon the sale or lease of the fisheries and the land, shall, at the option of the board, immediately become due and payable."
The bill makes similar provisions to the Farm Loan Act for protecting loans against loss and for payments of taxes and insurance. In addition to the initial capital provided by the Dominion treasury, bonds may be issued, which shall be subscribed for by the Government up to 5 per cent of the loans outstanding. The provincial organization of the Farm Loan Board will function in regard to fishermen's loans and in addition advisory boards of persons familiar with the fishing industry may be set up in any province where required.

Here From Seattle

Mr. and Mrs. Christy-Thomas, of Seattle, arrived yesterday to spend a week at the Beach Hotel.

THEY LEARNED TRICKS

England held her first indoor track and field championships at Wembley last month, and at least the athletes learned a few things they didn't know before. They competed in rubber-soled shoes and on a hardwood track. They'll doubtless wear spiked shoes and run on a pine track next year, because the meet was a success.

FEDERAL AIRFIELD IS SOUGHT FOR VICTORIA

Alderman Willis asserted. This city also was the headquarters for the navy and militia, and should not be overlooked, he contended.

"This situation is just one more instance accentuating the fact that Vancouver Island is absolutely neglected by the Dominion and Provincial Governments," Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter stated, in supporting the motion.

COLONIST ARTICLES

"We in this part of Canada have not been squarely dealt with at all. The articles that have been appearing in The Colonist for better terms should be read by every member of this council, and every public-minded citizen. Everyone should go into this question very carefully. On every hand we find this city and Island overlooked. Of the hundreds of thousands of dollars spent on radio, this city has not received one cent, and we contributed many thousands of dollars each year to the Government in radio licences," the alderman continued.

Alderman Hunter also drew attention to the state of the Island Highway near Duncan, where motorists have had to use a cut-off ever since the flood season last winter, and pointed out that work had only just been started on the replacement of Jordan River Bridge. The motion was carried without a dissenting voice.

"The more I see of the way science is or is not being applied to practical social needs, the clearer it becomes how much the question is mixed up with economics and politics," Julian Huxley.

New Y.W.C.A. Secretary Is Greeted Here

Mrs. Cushing, newly-appointed general secretary of the Y.W.C.A. here, arrived from Montreal yesterday and was welcomed by Mrs. John Baxter and Mrs. H. M. Cassidy, members of the board.

Mrs. Cushing will be entertained at a tea to be held later this week, when members of the board will be afforded an opportunity of meeting her.

Mrs. Cushing was formerly general secretary of the Y.W.C.A. in Montreal.

Eden, in talking to newspapermen, limited himself to this statement:

EDEN'S STATEMENT

"After discussing the present European situation, Mussolini and I were agreed as to the possibility of continuing to work for European appeasement in accordance with the guiding principles laid down in the London communiqué of February (the joint Franco-British declaration), and the Stresa resolution (embodying the Franco-Italian-British common front)."

While Eden refused to comment on the Ethiopian phase of the conversation, a British spokesman said the two discussed all points set forth in the London communiqué except Germany's return to the League of Nations, adding that both expressed

CRITICS PRAISE MUSICAL COMEDY

"Go Into Your Dance" Co-Stars Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler—Benny Rubin in Cast.

"Go Into Your Dance," the Warner Bros. musical special in which Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler are co-starring, is showing here today at the Capitol Theatre.

Film critics for Daily Variety and Film Daily, present at the Hollywood preview of the extravaganza, have written "rave" reviews.

"A happy combination for the fans and Warner's, is Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler," writes Daily Variety. "It is an interesting, well-written story of modern show business. The direction is exceptionally good and the idea is unusual and refreshing."

Film Daily goes to even greater lengths, lauding the Jolson-Keeler production as "tops for musical spectacles."

"It is a Jolson-Keeler picture all the way," says this eminent authority, "and they give plenty. Jolson shines, with Ruby's dancing a standout."

Supporting members of the cast include: "Go Into Your Dance" include Patry Kelly, Glenda Farrell, Helen Morgan, Barton MacLane, Sharon Lynne, Benny Rubin and Gordon Westcott.

COLUMBIA A salt-water, dyed-in-the-brine seafaring adventure is Steffi Duna, who portrays Kara in the new thrilling drama, "Red Morning," at the Columbia Theatre. Miss Duna runs into trouble, adventure, romance, action and melodrama. Regis Toomey is Miss Duna's romantic lead.

PLAYHOUSE A cast of real-life star proportions brings RKO-Radio's romantic comedy "By Your Leave" to the screen of the Playhouse Theatre. Frank Morgan and Genevieve Tobin are co-featured, with Neil Hamilton, Marion Nixon, Glenn

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen
Capitol—Ruby Keeler in "Go Into Your Dance."
Columbia — "Red Morning," starring Regis Toomey.
Dominion — Reginald Denny in "Vagabond Lady."
Playhouse—"By Your Leave," featuring Frank Morgan.

Anders, Gene Lockhart, Margaret Hamilton, Mashie Grable, Charles Ray and others.

DOMINION Although it has several dramatic moments, "Vagabond Lady," the Hal Roach-M-G-M feature comedy now playing at the Dominion Theatre is in reality a comedy. For despite the seriousness of many situations in which the various players are involved as the story unfolds, delightful humor is threaded throughout the production which was so deftly directed by Sam Taylor.

BOYS' BAND WILL PRESENT CONCERT

Youthful Victoria Musical Organization to Give Recital on Friday Night

A band concert is to be presented on Friday evening in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium by the Victoria Boys' Band, under the patronage of His Worship Mayor David Leeming and Sir Percy Lake.

The band is being assisted by several well-known artists: Harry S. Hay, tenor; Edith Howell, soprano; James Matheson, bass; William White, elocutionist, and Jessie Smith, accompanist. Mr. Hay is well known in radio circles, having sung over the Canadian network from Saskatoon for some time, prior to his coming to Victoria.

The proceeds of this entertainment are to be used to provide music and instruments, and the band has been working hard to present a worth-while programme.

An invitation has come to their leader to take the boys on July 4 to Port Angeles, where they will perform in connection with the festivities there, and represent Victoria.

Groups to Meet Next Sunday at Up-Island Point

Members of the Victoria Local Council of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada will hold an excursion to Nanaimo and Port Angeles on Sunday, it was announced last night by E. W. Jones, publicity chairman of the Victoria group.

The members will meet representatives of the New Westminster and Vancouver branches on the island, but other persons making the trip may remain in Nanaimo if they wish. Buses will leave the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Depot at 10 a.m., and will leave Nanaimo at 7:30 p.m.

"It is thrilling to be alive in this, the greatest age of understanding and intelligence," Edgar Lee Masters.

TRAFFIC COUNT WILL BE TAKEN

City Assessor to Take Census of Shoppers at Forty Different Points

Preparations are now being made for the taking of the annual census of traffic count of pedestrians in the downtown area, George, city assessor and collector, announced yesterday.

A count of the pedestrian traffic will be taken at forty different points in the business area at the same time on Saturday morning, and again on Saturday afternoon.

The count in the morning will be made between 11 and 12 o'clock, while the afternoon count will be made between 4 and 5 o'clock.

STARTED IN 1928
This traffic count was begun in 1928, and forms a basis for gauging the assessed value of business

New York Day by Day

—By O. O. McINTYRE—

NEW YORK, June 24.—When one has exactly thirty-five minutes to turn out a column, it is no picnic. Either this one must be off, or the printer in that time or something else will fill the space. And permitting something else to fill the space is always dangerous. It might by sheer excellence become permanent.

The inclination is to reprint some old column and label it "By Request," but editors are he to that one. So a fellow must muddle through. Instead I shall fill in a few paragraphs with a letter that pleased me. Pleasing because it is from that hard-boiled, crack newspaperman, Gene Fowler.

And because it came of all places—from far-away Damascus. Said he: "A museum on a miniature scale is being built in the Koran today and made me think of you. It seemed to say 'Odd McIntyre, Odd McIntyre sells old clothes.' So I'm dropping a line to say something I've never told you. But which I have long felt—You have always been interesting and fertile of brain without once, to my knowledge, having had to quit being a newspaperman and hating someone. So best of luck from out here, where all the aromas are not wafted from the cedars of Lebanon."

Speaking of the Koran, I once picked up for eighteen cents in a Fourth Avenue book shop an English translation of the Moslem prophet's philosophy. I fell away from my learning that to Islam those with blue eyes are destined to eternal fires. Many friends of the Texan who are blue eyed. My wife is blue eyed, the blue of corn flowers. But in the introductory passage to the Mohammed treatise I ran across a word I never discovered before. Namely: monoglot. That is what I am—a monoglot, i.e., a person who has command of one language only.

I wish someone with a gusto for fine food—someone such as Ford Madox Ford, Julian Street, or George Recker—would annotate a few paragraphs on the why of the appeal of those nearly bleak, open kitchen places with hickory burning fires. Whenever I'm hungry I can't stay away from them, but once arriving, I eat but little. The customers are booming and hearty and suggest sloping. Yet I can't get to the adequate and tiny orchestral places—Gene and Ernest's Colony, for instance—with the appetite of a sick canary and pop vest buttons in shameless gorging.

A sudden paucity of unread modern books drove me to Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables," the other rainy night. For two hours I was again across the acres of chimney pots, wandering at twilight through Parc Monceau, prowling through the shadowy portico of Place de Vosges, dropping in for a croissant and glass of milk at the dainty Kendal Lee-like lady's boulangerie in Rue des Petits Champs and riding by post-chaise along the Seine toward St. Cloud. So real was the transition I expected to see a shadowed and mustached consierge when I looked out the window toward a Waldorf doorway instead of the night hawk taxi driver.

I was thinking today of an assignment to interview Jane Cowl when the actress was most effulgent of the bright stars. I have talked to presidents, one king and one ex-king since, but all collectively were not as difficult to reach as Miss Cowl. Such abracadabra looks silly from the sidelines, but a great build-up. It so impressed me I always think of Miss Cowl along with Bernhardt, Duse and Marlowe, yet I know she is in no way a great actress. My life consisted of work and more work in order to forget.

"Well, I have managed to forget, as time heals all wounds. But how I regret cutting off all my men friends. What an unnatural thing to do."

"Today I am alone. I would like to get into the swing of real living again, but I have not been anywhere with a man for seven years. As a young girl I was quite popular."

"Even now men notice me and try to be attentive. But I have been out of things so long that I feel if I go out with a man I will not know what to say or do, and that I'll be a complete social failure."

"I am so terribly lonely that I feel I must get back to normality again and have the companionship of men as well as of women."

"Have I waited too long before realizing my mistake?"

SQUANDERED PRECIOUS YEARS
Answer: You have not waited too long to stage a come-back, but you have squandered seven of what should have been the most constructive and joyous years of your life—on what?

On slinging to a mistake.
On hugging your unhappiness to your breast.
On a lump of petrified clay which walked and talked like a man.

For either the man you loved lacked the courage to live his life fully, or he lacked the heart for warm and fullsome living. Unless, of course, there was some physical impediment to the consummation of your love, in which case he should have been frank enough to tell you why he had put up the bars against marriage.

No doubt, during the early part of your seven years' retirement you took a certain amount of vicarious pleasure out of your misery. You enjoyed a sadist's poignant pain prostrating yourself on the altar of a false god.

Your friends said: "Poor thing. She's had an unhappy love affair. She'll never get over it."
You were like the freaks in the circus—something to be wide-eyed over and to whisper about.

Thank goodness you've come out of the fog and the dark, and you're fighting to find your way back into the bright day with the blue skies and the warm sunshine.

Don't hesitate. Take your courage in one hand and your good-fellowship in the other and start right in traveling. Accept the attention of men who show interest in you. If you have the right spirit and the will to be a good woman, with some women, you can be a great one.

Don't think about your nerves. Your conversation. Think about how lucky you are to be a normal woman again instead of a bleak shadow. Here's luck along the road back, and I hope you find love, too, in some sunny spot by the wayside.

SUNDAY EVENT IS ARRANGED

Dominion Day Celebration Committee Reports Progress on Programme

Arrangements have been completed by the Dominion Day celebration committee, Alderman T. W. Hawkins, president, announced yesterday, for the holding of a special thanksgiving service in Beacon Hill Park on Sunday afternoon. A band will be in attendance, and the programme will be partially patriotic in keeping with the occasion.

At a meeting of the celebration committee held yesterday, the chairman of the various sub-committees reported progress on the arrangements for the various celebration events.

IN INNER HARBOR
The committee was assured that the entertainment in the Inner Harbor on Monday evening would be of an outstanding character. The massed choir of 600 voices is now rehearsing under Frank Tupman, and efforts are being made to provide this great choral group with a string orchestra for the occasion.

The music will be given from an illuminated float in the Inner Harbor, and will be followed by a spectacular fireworks display.

REGATTA AT GORGE
A. H. Cox reported satisfactory progress on the regatta at the Gorge, and stated that there should be just as good entertainment provided there as was the case on May 24, which saw one of the biggest crowds that has gone to a Gorge regatta since the pre-war days.

Charles Fea stated that the Native Sons of Canada baseball team had been strengthened considerably to provide a fine programme for the sport. Work started was against the Home-Can team from Vancouver. Two games will be played, one at 10 a.m. and the other at 3 p.m., on Monday.

Attempting to apprehend a prowler whom he chased from the premises of the Park Supply Store, corner of Quadra Street and Queens Avenue, Saturday night, James Waller, 2408 West Street, was attacked by an unknown man and kicked and had to be taken to the Royal Jubilee Hospital for treatment.

Mr. Waller, with other youths, chased the man whom they disturbed prowling about the vicinity of the store and the prowler turned on Mr. Waller and kicked him and then made off in the darkness. After receiving treatment at the hospital, Mr. Waller was permitted to go home on Sunday.

Police also received a report from Wally Joe, Chinese houseboy at the home of Colonel J. Peters, Esquimalt Road, that he had been set upon by two of his countrymen, but escaped before they could get the $200 he said he had on his person. The two men, the houseboy said, were hidden in the bush and attacked him shortly after he left a taxi near Colonel Peter's home.

James Waller Leaves Hospital After Receiving Treatment for Violent Kick

It interests me that the sons of Eddie Collins, baseball star, and Martin Quigley, have consecrated their lives to religion. The Collins had in an Episcopal theological seminary and Quigley's son at a proper age is to study for a Jesuit priesthood. The fathers are of the world whose lives have been many-faceted. That, in the buzz-fuzz of rampant materialism, they should want their sons to spread the spiritual solace of the scriptures will lighten many who see faith humbling.

A group led up by Wendell Dodge discussed descriptive poetical lines in the Murray Hill barber shop this noon. Keats, Shelly, Byron and Browning were quoted. A manicure girl working over the sturdy hand of Capt. Bob Bartlett, no less, looked up and recalled a line from Edith Gage that "the geranium was the orchid of the poor." As good as any, I thought. So the column is finished with five minutes to spare. I even had one foot off the floor part of the time.

Jane Dixon Says:

IT IS A TERRIBLE MISTAKE TO TRY TO BUILD A ROMANCE WITH THE WRONG MATERIAL

What a mistake we make when we go on trying to build a romance from the wrong material!

From material that is weak and unworthy.

From hard, unyielding material that stubbornly keeps to its one mis-shapen self.

It is just as futile to try to fashion romance or to create love out of a lump of cold grey stone as it is to use putty for that purpose.

"Dear Jane Dixon," writes Reader, "Seven years ago I made a very foolish mistake. The man I loved told me he never would marry."

"I was heart-broken and gave up all my friends of the opposite sex."

"I did not bother with anyone. My life consisted of work and more work in order to forget."

"Well, I have managed to forget, as time heals all wounds. But how I regret cutting off all my men friends. What an unnatural thing to do."

"Today I am alone. I would like to get into the swing of real living again, but I have not been anywhere with a man for seven years. As a young girl I was quite popular."

"Even now men notice me and try to be attentive. But I have been out of things so long that I feel if I go out with a man I will not know what to say or do, and that I'll be a complete social failure."

"I am so terribly lonely that I feel I must get back to normality again and have the companionship of men as well as of women."

TRAFFIC COUNT WILL BE TAKEN

City Assessor to Take Census of Shoppers at Forty Different Points

Preparations are now being made for the taking of the annual census of traffic count of pedestrians in the downtown area, George, city assessor and collector, announced yesterday.

A count of the pedestrian traffic will be taken at forty different points in the business area at the same time on Saturday morning, and again on Saturday afternoon.

The count in the morning will be made between 11 and 12 o'clock, while the afternoon count will be made between 4 and 5 o'clock.

STARTED IN 1928
This traffic count was begun in 1928, and forms a basis for gauging the assessed value of business

New York Day by Day

—By O. O. McINTYRE—

NEW YORK, June 24.—When one has exactly thirty-five minutes to turn out a column, it is no picnic. Either this one must be off, or the printer in that time or something else will fill the space. And permitting something else to fill the space is always dangerous. It might by sheer excellence become permanent.

The inclination is to reprint some old column and label it "By Request," but editors are he to that one. So a fellow must muddle through. Instead I shall fill in a few paragraphs with a letter that pleased me. Pleasing because it is from that hard-boiled, crack newspaperman, Gene Fowler.

And because it came of all places—from far-away Damascus. Said he: "A museum on a miniature scale is being built in the Koran today and made me think of you. It seemed to say 'Odd McIntyre, Odd McIntyre sells old clothes.' So I'm dropping a line to say something I've never told you. But which I have long felt—You have always been interesting and fertile of brain without once, to my knowledge, having had to quit being a newspaperman and hating someone. So best of luck from out here, where all the aromas are not wafted from the cedars of Lebanon."

Speaking of the Koran, I once picked up for eighteen cents in a Fourth Avenue book shop an English translation of the Moslem prophet's philosophy. I fell away from my learning that to Islam those with blue eyes are destined to eternal fires. Many friends of the Texan who are blue eyed. My wife is blue eyed, the blue of corn flowers. But in the introductory passage to the Mohammed treatise I ran across a word I never discovered before. Namely: monoglot. That is what I am—a monoglot, i.e., a person who has command of one language only.

I wish someone with a gusto for fine food—someone such as Ford Madox Ford, Julian Street, or George Recker—would annotate a few paragraphs on the why of the appeal of those nearly bleak, open kitchen places with hickory burning fires. Whenever I'm hungry I can't stay away from them, but once arriving, I eat but little. The customers are booming and hearty and suggest sloping. Yet I can't get to the adequate and tiny orchestral places—Gene and Ernest's Colony, for instance—with the appetite of a sick canary and pop vest buttons in shameless gorging.

A sudden paucity of unread modern books drove me to Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables," the other rainy night. For two hours I was again across the acres of chimney pots, wandering at twilight through Parc Monceau, prowling through the shadowy portico of Place de Vosges, dropping in for a croissant and glass of milk at the dainty Kendal Lee-like lady's boulangerie in Rue des Petits Champs and riding by post-chaise along the Seine toward St. Cloud. So real was the transition I expected to see a shadowed and mustached consierge when I looked out the window toward a Waldorf doorway instead of the night hawk taxi driver.

I was thinking today of an assignment to interview Jane Cowl when the actress was most effulgent of the bright stars. I have talked to presidents, one king and one ex-king since, but all collectively were not as difficult to reach as Miss Cowl. Such abracadabra looks silly from the sidelines, but a great build-up. It so impressed me I always think of Miss Cowl along with Bernhardt, Duse and Marlowe, yet I know she is in no way a great actress. My life consisted of work and more work in order to forget.

"Well, I have managed to forget, as time heals all wounds. But how I regret cutting off all my men friends. What an unnatural thing to do."

"Today I am alone. I would like to get into the swing of real living again, but I have not been anywhere with a man for seven years. As a young girl I was quite popular."

"Even now men notice me and try to be attentive. But I have been out of things so long that I feel if I go out with a man I will not know what to say or do, and that I'll be a complete social failure."

"I am so terribly lonely that I feel I must get back to normality again and have the companionship of men as well as of women."

Cotton and Burton Tied for Qualifying Round Honors in British Open

Present Champion And Young English Shotmaker in Lead

Both Finish Thirty-Six-Hole Test in 141 After Brilliant Rounds—Macdonald Smith and Jack Bussan Turn in 142's—Lawson Little Just Gets Under Wire

He tied a young compatriot, Richard Burton, for the medal in the qualifying competition at 141.

MURFIELD, Scotland, June 25 (AP)—British shotmakers took command of the situation as the qualifying round of the British open golf championship was completed today over the Muirfield and Gullane courses. Lawson Little, who registered a dazzling victory to win the title a year ago, again demonstrated his class, shooting a two-under-par 70 over Gullane to add to yesterday's 71 at Muirfield, where the championship proper starts tomorrow, the champion justified 4 to 1 odds placed against him by many bookmakers. The twenty-seven-year-old Burton's successive rounds of 70-71 permitted him to share the honors with Cotton.

The field was cut from 250 to 100 for the championship route of seventy-two holes. Single rounds will be played tomorrow and Thursday, with thirty-six holes for the survivors on Friday. Amateur honors were carried off by young Hector Thomson, the 1934 Irish amateur champion, who actually comes from the Scottish town of Machrihanish. He produced a fine 70 over Gullane today for a total of 144. Jack McLean, Scottish amateur titleholder, got under the wire with 74-76-150.

SMITH RELAXES

The veteran Macdonald Smith, born in Carnoustie forty-five years ago and now earning his way in the United States, finished in the tie for third place with Jack Bussan, a young British Ryder Cup team hopeful. Smith, whose record-equalling 66 over Gullane yesterday set the pace, announced before the start of today's round he intended to relax. He did, with a comfortable 76. Bussan had two rounds of 71.

VICTORIA TO FIELD STRONG CRICKET SIDE

Good Team Named for Inter-City Match Here On July 1

The first of two semi-annual cricket fixtures, emblematic of the championship of the province, will be played Monday at the University School grounds between teams representing Victoria and Vancouver. Victoria will be the defending side, having won in 1933—the 1934 series ending in a draw.

Owing to the inability to obtain permission for automobiles to enter Macdonald Park, which would affect the attendance of many lovers of the game, the match will be played at the University School grounds by permission of the school authorities. Cars may be driven to the grounds, but must not be parked anywhere on the grass. There will be no charge for admission, but a collection to defray expenses will be taken on the ground.

Play will start at 10:30 o'clock and stumps will be drawn at 6:30 o'clock, with lunch and tea intervals at 1 o'clock and 4:30 o'clock, respectively.

THE TEAM
The team as finally selected to represent Victoria is the youngest that has appeared for several years, and it is expected, will give a good account of itself. With Reg Wenman, of the Incogs, as captain, the Victoria side will be as follows: Reg Wenman (captain), R. Poppy, R. Ty, E. Hamber and J. Bryden, Incogs; G. Payne, J. Payne and Eric Quinton, Five C's; L. M. Gibbons, Albions; A. J. Darcus and G. C. Grant, Victoria; Umpire, Hubert Lethaby, and scorer, J. Longfield.

TURNER LIFTS GOLF HONORS

Colonist Printer Wins Elks Club Championship at Colwood Links

Strange fairways mean nothing to R. C. "Bob" Turner, printer at the Daily Colonist, for over the weekend he stepped over the smooth pastures and well-trimmed greens at the Royal Colwood Golf Club for the first time and captured the silverware, symbolic of the Elks Club championship. The dark-haired shoemaker from the morning newspaper came through with a neat net card of 71 five wallops in front of his nearest rival, to take the honors from a small but select field. In second position came A. D. Findlay, with a net 76, and tied for the next three places were D. W. Spence, E. Jones and A. Colquhoun, with 78's. W. Smith and Percy Fitzsimmons were next with 80's, and the rest of the field were well bunched.

Scores follow: R. Turner, 71; A. D. Findlay, 76; D. W. Spence, 78; E. Jones, 78; A. Colquhoun, 78; W. Smith, 80; P. Fitzsimmons, 80; J. A. Oddy, 82; Lester Patrick, 82; J. H. McConnell, 84; J. H. Davies, 84; R. D. Matthews, 85; W. Thacker, 92; C. Jasper, 92; G. N. Pelee, 94; A. Dendoff, 94; Alan Chambers, 95.

Tan Bombshell Explodes

JOE LOUIS

Detroit negro sensation, who jumped into heavyweight recognition last night at the Yankee Stadium, New York, when he spotted Primo Carnera, former titleholder, sixty pounds, and then proceeded to smash him from pillar to post to gain a technical knockout after two minutes and thirty-two seconds of fighting in the sixth round. The outcome was never in doubt as Louis pounded the giant Italian all over the ring from the opening bell. He had Carnera dizzy in the first round and coasted in from there on. Carnera was badly battered at the finish, blood flowing from his lips as he reeled all over the ring.

OAK BAY WINS OVER UPLANDS

Takes Women's Inter-Club Match on Home Links by Three-Point Margin

Gaining eight victories and halving three other matches, women members of the Victoria Golf Club came through with a 9½ to 8½ decision over the Uplands Golf Club Monday afternoon at the Oak Bay links in an inter-club fixture. Mrs. E. Jackson, newly-crowned city titleholder, took the feature match of the day from Mrs. J. Hutchinson, Oak Bay's holder of the British Columbia championship. Mrs. B. R. Philbrick started Oak Bay on to victory by winning from Miss Dorothy Fletcher, Uplands star.

Changes Made in England's Test Cricket Eleven
LONDON, June 25 (AP)—R. S. L. Mitchell, of Oxford, Oxford University star, will not line up with England against the touring South Africans in the second test cricket match at Lord's, June 29. He is suffering from hay fever and will be replaced by E. R. T. Holmes, Surrey.

Other changes announced substitute Edward W. Clark, of Northamptonshire; Thomas B. Mitchell, of Derbyshire; William Farrington, of Lancashire, and John Langridge, of Sussex, for J. Iddon, of Lancashire; R. W. V. Robbins, of Middlesex, and William Bowes, of Yorkshire. Langridge is expected to be the spare man.

Sets Record at Port Alice Golf Club With a 63
PORT ALICE, June 25.—Helped along with a hole-in-one at the short second, a distance of 120 yards, H. L. Martin established a new course record of 63 here during one of the club tournaments last week. Martin played great golf the whole distance, bagging birdies and pars with monotonous regularity. He was playing in a mixed foursome at the time with Mrs. H. V. Smyth, Mrs. F. Baker and P. B. Watson.

LOCAL GOLFERS ADVANCE IN P.N.W. TOURNAMENT

Jimmy Todd Beats Seattle Youngster In Decisive Style

Victoria Southpaw Trims Bill Duncan in Opening Round, 14 and 12—Fence Finlay Today—Marjorie Todd Wins, 8 and 6—Storey Is Beaten—Mrs. Ford in Great Triumph

By FRANK O. GORRIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SEATTLE GOLF CLUB, June 25

Bill fighting a peevish and erratic game, Kenny Storey, the Seattle youngster, lost his championship in the first round of the Pacific Northwest amateur golf tournament today

when he was trounced by Jimmy Todd, a former amateur and open player of the district, 6 and 5.

Twice Storey gained a big edge over Hogan only to turn around and shoot like a beginner, pushing balls into the woods and rough for mighty

"slices."

He won two of the first four holes, slipped, and made the turn even,

won the next three in championship ship form and then went all to pieces, losing five of the last six of the morning eighteen. In the afternoon

he began to hit far more consistently,

but he didn't have a chance as Hogan got hot and put together six birdies.

In the qualifying round yesterday,

Storey was riled with his iron and putts and after taking an 18 on the first eighteen, spent the afternoon at practice as he automatically qualified because he was the defending champion.

On the whole, favorites came through with flying colors and big winning scores, the only upset of the day being Dr. O. F. Willing's failure to qualify in a playoff with

Paul Pigott, Seattle, and Vincent

Dolp's loss to Harry Hiet, Seattle.

Willing, Portland former Walker

Cup player, lost out when Pigott sank a downhill twenty-five-foot putt on the fifth extra hole. The other Portland ace lost to Hiet, 4 and 3, after leading in the morning

1 up.

Visiting players who survived the first round were Don Moe and Eddie

Hogan, Portland; Ernie Pieper, San

Jose; Chan Egan, Medford, Ore.;

Chuck Hunter, Tacoma; Jimmy

Todd, Victoria, and Dr. Cliff Baker,

Vancouver, Wash. Besides Dolp, Al

Harrington, Yakima; C. E. Wood,

Spokane, and Joe Hughes, Wenatchee, were left by the wayside.

Todd was ten up on Duncan at the halfway mark.

Among the favorites, Moe, medalist in the qualifying round, easily eliminated Harry Umbreit, Seattle,

6 and 5; Scotty Campbell, twice

Canadian amateur champion, trounced

Al Harrington, 7 and 6, with an amazing card of seven under par; Egan plastered Carl Jones,

Seattle, 9 and 7, and Pieper lost to Sherman Elsworth, Seattle,

2 up, by winning the last two holes.

Other thirty-six-hole results included:

Baker defeated Ralph Welch, Seattle, 6 and 5; Harry Givan, Seattle,

7 and 5; Leo Stiel, Seattle, defeated

Bob Emsie, Seattle, 7 and 5; Clyde

Finlay, Seattle, defeated Joe Hughes,

3 and 2; Todd defeated Bill Duncan,

Seattle, 14 and 12; Ralph Whaley,

Seattle, defeated Rudy Holm, Seattle,

4 and 3; Johnny Shields, Seattle, defeated Ed Greenway, Seattle, 6

and 5; Chuck Hunter, Tacoma, defeated Paul Pigott, 8 and 7; Dick

Haskell, Seattle, defeated C. E.

Wood, Spokane, 4 and 2; Bob Gourlay, Seattle, defeated Henry Bulco,

Seattle, 2 and 1.

TODAY'S DRAW

The draw for today is as follows:

Moe vs. Baker.

Givan vs. Todd.

Hiet vs. Whaley.

Hogan vs. Shields.

Campbell vs. Gourlay.

Egan vs. Pieper.

Haskell vs. Hunter.

WOMEN'S MEET

BROADMOOR GOLF CLUB, Seattle, June 25 (A).—Although she got out of a sick bed against doctors' orders to compete in the women's division of the Pacific Northwest golf tournament, Mrs. Vera Ruch-ing, of Seattle, formerly of Vancouver, didn't lack championship form when she moved out Miss Elizabeth Abbott, Los Angeles.

Southern California titleholder, on an extra hole in the most spectacular match of the first round of play today.

It was with regret that two of the favorites had to meet in the first round, but it gave the spectators a great thrill.

Domie two at the sixteenth, Mrs.

Ford, six times the winner of the Northwest championship, won the seventeenth and eighteenth to square the match and then capture the nineteenth with a birdie four, nearly sinking her chip shot for an eagle.

Seven visitors survived the first round match play, including Miss

Marion McDougall, Portland, defending titlist and a heavy favorite to retain it in spite of the fact that Miss McDougall had a competition. Miss McDougall had little trouble defeating Elizabeth

Finlay, Seattle, 8 and 6.

MISS TODD ADVANCES

The others were Mrs. L. J.

Tescher, Berkeley, Northern Calif.

champion; Miss Iva Linton,

San Jose; Miss Florence Sellers and

Miss Patsy McKenna, both Portland; Miss Barbara Beach Thompson, Palo Alto, and Miss Marjorie

Todd, Victoria.

Mrs. Tescher, another of the leading contenders, remained in the race by noting out Mrs. J. D. Gil-mour, Seattle, qualifying medalist,

1 up.

OTHER RESULTS

Other scores included:

Mrs. W. M. Shelton, Seattle, defeated Mrs. C. W. Adams, Seattle,

5 and 4.

Mrs. G. R. Johnson, Seattle, defeated Mrs. B. E. Eva, Portland, 3

and 2.

Miss Linton defeated Mrs. H. O.

Young, Seattle, 1 up.

Miss Sellers defeated Mrs. J. P.

Tompkins, Seattle, 4 and 3.

Mrs. J. K. Priebe, Seattle, defeated Mrs. Louis Langfield, San Francisco, 4 and 2.

Mrs. J. R. West, Seattle, defeated

Mrs. K. L. Howe, Seattle, 6 and 5.

Mrs. L. Wingham, Seattle, defeated Mrs. J. C. Bridgman, Seattle,

7 and 5.

Mrs. W. A. Kingman, Seattle, defeated Nancy Hurst, Portland, 1 up.

Miss Thompson defeated Muriel

Veach, Longview, 1 up.

Marjorie Todd defeated Eleanor

Brodie, Portland, 8 and 6.

Patsy McKenna defeated Winfred Nolte, Bellingham, 2 and 1.

Mrs. H. C. Oliver, Seattle, defeated Mrs. E. T. Pope, Seattle, 3

and 2.

Mrs. G. B. Butterworth, Seattle, defeated Mrs. Walter Pursey, Seattle, 5 and 4.

TODAY'S DRAW

The winners are matched for tomorrow as follows:

Mrs. Tescher vs. Mrs. Shelton.

Mrs. Ford vs. Mrs. Butterworth.

Mrs. Johnson vs. Miss Linton.

Miss Sellers vs. Mrs. Priebe.

Miss McDougall vs. Mrs. West.

SONS OF CANADA
To Meet Eagles
In Ball Fixture

WITH five wins to their credit, Eagles, undefeated leaders of the Commercial Baseball League, will be out to lengthen their winning streak this evening at the Royal Athletic Park, when they stack up against the Sons of Canada, second-place nine, in a regular league fixture. Leo Holden will call the balls and strikes and get the boys into action at 6 o'clock. Jimmie Proudlove, first-string hurler, is expected to do the heavy work for the hurlers, with Alec Dick or Sonny Walker twirling for the Canadians. Holding the second slot, just one game in front of the Tillamook and Slocan, Sons of Canada must win tonight in order to stay close to the leaders.

STIVING TO DIVIDE LAND

Policy of Japan Is to Keep Chinese Provinces From Uniting

"Internally, China is making good progress in solving the many problems with which the country has been beset for some time past, and it is not alone there is every reason to believe we can put our own house in order," Dr. Ts. Zung Koo, secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation, told newspapermen on the arrival of S.S. President Jefferson here yesterday morning. "In-ternationally, though, it's a different story," he added.

"What will follow the latest de-vel- opments Japan has made on China is a very problematical; but it looks just now as though Japan is con- tinuing its policy of grabbing more territory at the expense of China. As long as the military is the power in control of Japan, just so long must China suffer from encroach- ments and can expect no more or less subjected to all manner of trumped up and unreasonable charges. Under the circumstances, there is not much we can do about it."

MAY GO TOO FAR

"Any government that can promise any stability to China is not wanted by Japan, no matter how much they may state to the contrary. At present, Japan is ex- tending every effort to keep the North China group of provinces away from Nanking control. Her policy is to keep the country divided and bring about the downfall of the best govern- ment China has so far known. Japan may go too far, however, for the farther she gets from the sea the greater is her danger. She may very well be squeezed between Russia and what is left of China."

"The Nanking Government is doing everything possible to main- tain peaceful relations with Japan, but it is very difficult. China too is having plenty to do in the effort to rid the country of the Commu- nist menace in the South and West. Considerable progress is being effected in this direction. All hope of receiving help from the League of Nations have been abandoned by China. Since the Manchukuo trouble, it would appear as though the League had not been able to function as a smoother-out of po- litical difficulties."

NATIONAL SPIRIT

"More and more there is growing a greater national spirit throughout China," Dr. Koo added. "A number of provinces are now solid for the Nanking Government, and it is only a question of time when the south- ern provinces will see the advan- tages of joining up with the middle provinces in a programme of progress which would benefit all concerned."

Dr. Koo is on his way to Berke- ley, California, where there is to be a gathering of international educa- tionists, and from there he will go to Portland, Oregon, where there will be another meeting of a like character. After that, he expects to make a lecture tour of the United States. He expects to return home in the Fall of this year.

DIFFICULT FOR BANKS

Silver Situation Causing De- plorable Financial Condi- tions Across Pacific

With a newspaper experience covering many years in the United States and the Orient, D. E. King, recently representative of the United Press at Shanghai, was a passenger aboard the S.S. President Jefferson arriving here yesterday morning on his way to Washington, where he has been transferred to the staff of the great news-gather- ing service.

Mr. King stated that financial conditions in China were in a de- plorable condition at the present time. Banks were finding it very difficult to carry on, while a num- ber had closed their doors. The silver situation, which is largely responsible for this state of affairs.

SPENT TWELVE YEARS
Although he had spent some twelve years in all in various parts of the Orient connected with the practice of his profession, Mr. King said it was extremely difficult to get the right perspective on what had happened there in recent years, or what might happen at any time in the near future. He had been with Manila papers and had spent a number of years with various Shanghai journals in different capacities.

Mr. King was more interested in recent happenings in the United States than he appeared to be in what had occurred in China. Leav- ing Seattle just five years ago, he expected to see a different picture on his return. He had heard and read considerable about the "social revolution" which this country was going through, and felt convinced that the President of the United States was a big enough man to steer the ship of state in the right direction across the perilous sea of politics.

Stocks Are Given Downward Shake Upon Wall Street

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—Uncertainty today over the Washington tax developments combined with profit-taking after the recent rise in stocks to shake the market down sharply.

"Blue chip" equities, particularly some of the higher-placed members of the "Century Club," gave ground readily, with losses of fractions to two or more points rather common. Rails held a little better on the whole than other groups, while the bears made most progress against the industrials.

Carrier issues, likewise, were able to come back best in the bond market toward the finish. Transactions were the rule in most other sections of the loan list, even though the day's loss was generally improved on at the finish. The volume of transactions was about on a par with Monday's session, with turnover most rapid in the first half hour, while stocks sold off sharply, and again toward the finish when a slight recovery was under way. Transactions averaged 1,144,330 shares. The Associated Press average of sixty stocks declined 6 of a point at 44.3.

Wall Street banking and brokerage circles appeared to be somewhat taken aback at the announced intention of the administration to push rapidly ahead with the President's wealth distribution tax program, and insurance leaders were likewise worried by the speculation on the effect of higher estate duties on their business.

Official confirmation of the slight slump in business in May was seen in the publication of the Federal Reserve Board's index of activity at eighty-five against eighty-six in April. Payrolls and employment were likewise reported to have dipped slightly.

Santa Fe's directors fulfilled Wall Street expectations in the declaration of a $2 dividend out of earned surplus, the same amount declared this time a year ago. At 48-1/8 the stock was higher by a substantial fraction.

Most of the usual leaders declined major fractions to 2 points or so including Westinghouse at 52 1/2-1/4, Woodworth at 62, American Telephone at 126 1/4, Standard Oil of N.J. at 48-1/8, American Can at 138-1/2, and Chrysler at 48-3/4.

The corporate bond market was slightly up today by developments in the United States Government's new taxation programme, but losses were small and a steady tone prevailed in late trading. Heaviest losses included Otis Steel 6 1/2, off 2 at 86-1/2; Warner Brothers 6 1/2, off 1 1/4 at 64-1/2; and American Foreign Power 5 1/2, off 1/2 at 70.

Foreign bonds were steady. (H. A. Humber, Ltd.)

by W. D. TIPTON and J. H. MASON

ICE IN FREEZING FOGGY WEATHER ICE BUILDS UP ON THE LEADING EDGE OF THE WING, DEFORMING THEIR CONTOUR AND DESTROYING THEIR LIFT.

THE DE-ICER, ALONG FLATTENED RUBBER TUBE, IS ATTACHED ALONG THE LEADING EDGE OF THE WING. ALTERNATE INFLATION AND DEFLATION OF THIS TUBE WITH COMPRESSED AIR BREAKS UP THE ICE.

ICE FORMATION ON PROPELLERS THROWS THEM OUT OF BALANCE, CAUSING SEVERE VIBRATION WITH SUBSEQUENT DAMAGE TO ENGINE AND PLANE.

JESSE HARRISON MASON

ICE is the airline pilot's dread enemy. It comes without warning and builds up on the wings, destroying their lift and increasing the load. Gradually the pilot notices his plane becoming heavy and sluggish, and sometimes too late he realizes his enemy is fastening its icy fingers on his craft.

In addition, modern transport planes have an ice-warning instrument which tells the pilot of the danger of ice. Finally the pilot has an additional device which casts off the ice if he inadvertently gets into ice-forming weather.

This device, known as the de-icer, is a double thickness rubber overshoe which covers the leading edge of the wings where ice is most serious because it deforms the shape of the wing and destroys its lift. This overshoe is alternately inflated with compressed air and deflated, breaking up the ice, which blows away.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

MISCREANT—FORMERLY A MISBELIEVER

Today, a miscreant is somebody who has done a wrong, frequently a crime, who does not believe in law and order.

It is in somewhat of the latter sense that this interesting term had its origin.

Miscreant is a combination of two words meaning literally "to believe less."

Accordingly, it was first used in allusion to those who held a false religious faith, who were, in other words, misbelievers, being applied, among others to Mohammedans.

From this idea, as an outgrowth of the thought that one who was not a Christian was not governed by Christian principles, miscreant came to be used in connection with anybody who was unscrupulous or conscienceless, eventually becoming synonymous with knave or criminal.

Two fellows were playing a ding-dong golf match, into the exciting spirit of which even the caddies had entered.

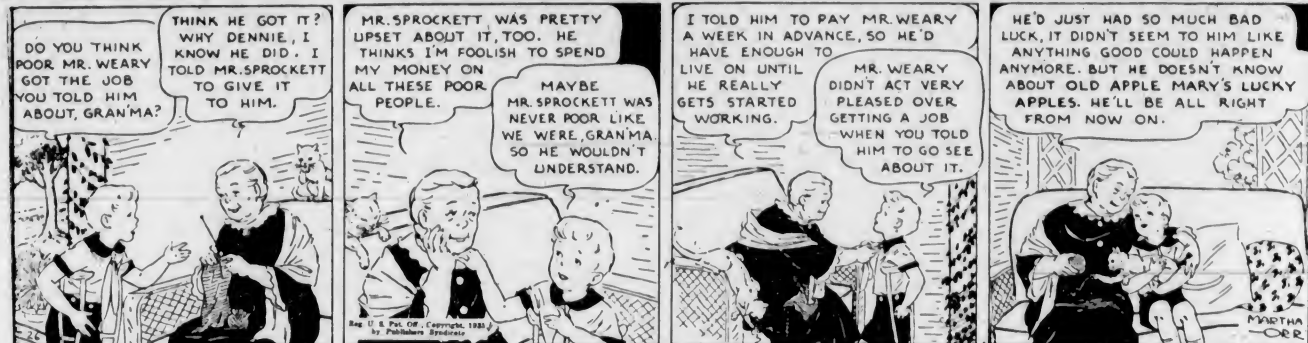

Going to the last hole all square, one man sliced badly, while the other had an equally wild pull. The first man found himself in a jungle. His first niblick shot raised a huge divot and moved the ball about six feet. He took turf with his second effort, also, but got the ball well away.

"By the way," he said as he replaced the second divot, "what happened to the other caddy?"

"Oh," said the caddy, "he's playing six out of a bunker."

Tangled Love

SYNOPSIS

Elmer Stuart, a beautiful blonde, is just as different from her younger sister Noel in other respects as she is in coloring. Noel, dark and self-reliant, has just finished five years at a northern boarding school and is unhappy as soon as she sees the dilapidated house overlooking the Potomac. The girl's grandfather owned the island, but the family fortunes have dwindled until there is only the old house and half an acre of land, and their aunt needs the money they pay her, which comes from renting their old home in Baltimore, now run up into studio apartments. Aunt Jessica is planning to marry Elmer to Stephen Gordon, a wealthy young resident of the island's summer colony. Elmer is a pilot, but Noel, who is an outdoor girl and a good swimmer and diver, resents her aunt's whole attitude towards life. Elmer asks Noel to go to Baltimore to collect the rent. There she meets Scott Court, two years out of Harvard, who is a writer. Other friends she meets are Linda Parley, red-headed and an artist, and Ned Wilson, who also is a writer. Not only are the four young people congenial, but Noel is very much attracted to Scott. That night she meets Stephen, seeing with him, Elmer and Tommy Wilson to a club dance. Stephen asks her to go swimming with him next day. They meet on the beach, and when Elmer sees them together she makes a scene. Stephen walks away angrily.

CHAPTER III

The next morning at breakfast Aunt Jessica announced that she was going to town to shop and that Elmer was to accompany her.

"I suppose," she said to Noel, "that you can keep out of mischief while I'm gone."

"I can't see that I've been in any," Noel answered, looking bright and lovely in her sister's blue silk beach pajamas.

Aunt Jessica sighed again. She had heard that Tommy Black had deserted Noel at the dance and that Stephen, with characteristic gallantry, had saved her from embarrassment. Ah, that was like Stephen to think of the sister of the girl he was going to marry. She turned to Elmer.

"I've made an appointment for you to get a permanent wave today. I don't like to see your hair stringy, my dear. And we'll see what can be done about some new clothes. Noel, go upstairs and bring me the rent money you collected, or rather what's left of it."

Noel went upstairs obediently. There were many things she needed, but Elmer . . . oh, well . . . Elmer was beaming.

"Oh, I saw the darlin' dress at O'Hare's. It was only fifty."

Half an hour later Elmer and Aunt Jessica left for the city in a car borrowed from one of the neighbors. Noel wandered about the house, knowing she could never feel at home here. It was as if she were a visitor and soon her visit would be over and she would put this miserable ghostly house out of her life forever. But her life was here . . .

and love him. I love him, but . . . but will he ever love me? So absorbed was she in thought that she did not hear a car stop. When she finally heard Linda's voice, they were being admitted by Dalton, the butler. She saw Scott first, because her eyes sought him first. And there was a little catch in her throat because her love was new and tender and unrequited.

She knew she could never create an illusion of a man and love that created illusion. Scott's ambitions and strength and fine mind were a combination that fitted the pattern her young mind had divined. Girls in school had said of this and that man, "He's so handsome," and Noel had always asked, "Yes, but what kind of man is he?"

Seeing Scott, his dark eyes under strong black brows, the straight nose, and black hair stubbornly him, Noel knew that Linda, too, loved him. "Back again," said Ned, "with appetite appeased."

"It's a ferocious one," Linda laughed. "You can't go swimming now, Ned."

"Suddenly Noel looked up and saw Stephen standing there. Scott and Ned got up quickly and the three men almost fell into each other's arms."

"Scott Court! Ned Wilson!" Stephen cried. "Where did you drop from?"

"From the hot city of Paradise," said Ned. "I've often wondered what became of you," Stephen said. "You simply vanished after graduation."

"Poor writers can't hobnob with millionaires," said Scott. "Noel is responsible for this. She's our landlady. This is Linda Farley, our

Suddenly Noel looked up and saw Stephen standing there. Scott and Ned got up quickly, and the three men almost fell into each other's arms.

Dreading to think of the future, she started to go outdoors when the telephone rang.

"Stuart's residence?" inquired a bright young voice.

"Yes. This is Noel."

"Oh, darling, I'm so glad it's you. This is Linda."

Life came to Noel's eyes at once. "Scott asked me to call you."

Linda continued. "We're perishing in the heat. May we come down to the island for a swim? Ned has a wreck of a car. We needn't bump into Aunt Jessica if it will get you in trouble."

"Yes, do come. She isn't here," and gave Linda directions.

"Thanks, darling, we'll be there shortly."

She was happy now. Scott was coming. She would be with him again, close to him. "I love him," she thought, her lovely eyes grave and dark at the thought of him.

"I always knew I'd love a man suddenly like that . . . just look at him and know he'd be the man."

waved, she was only vaguely conscious of Linda and Ned.

"I'm so glad to see you," she said, and was so idiotically happy that the scowls of Dalton did not disturb her.

Her world did not exist now . . . the world of Aunt Jessica and Elmer. She was happy, and these people were her friends.

"Did you think this was terribly rude of us?" Linda asked. "But it was so hot in town."

"A morgue," said Ned. "Is cheerful to this place."

Scott, to whom heirlooms and houses were unimportant, too, saw only the girl before him, slender and brown in silk pajamas. He was not sure how he felt about her. He knew that when she looked at him with eyes so incredibly honest there was no mistaking the meaning in them; that every girl he had known paled beside her. He had found himself thinking about her over his work and sometimes he shrugged and thought, "Why do I think of her? She's so young. But there is something about her a man can't forget."

"What are we waiting for?" Linda asked. "Shall we undress here or at the bath-house?"

"The bath-house," said Scott. "What if Miss Stuart should return?"

"Come on," said Ned. "Let's get going."

They piled into Ned's ancient car and drove to the bath-house. In a short time they all met on the beach.

"Let's swim out," Scott said to Noel.

"I want a sun bath," said Linda. "I envy Noel her tan. Ned, you can take one with me. Um . . . what an elegant place this is."

Scott and Noel swam out. "That's a fine stroke you have," he said between breaths.

"Yours, too."

They came back to the beach again, wet and laughing. Linda and Ned went to buy sandwiches at the pavilion to satisfy Ned's insatiable appetite.

Lying on the warm sand, her face turned to the bright sky, Noel wondered why she felt awkwardly silent with Scott when they were alone. Was she afraid of saying something that would reveal how she felt toward him?

"Noel," he asked, "have you ever been in love?"

She sat up slowly, looked out over the water. He thought she looked very childish with her hair blowing.

"Have you?" she asked. "What is love?"

"I've had numerous definitions, fighting a cigarette. I get a new one with every new girl." He smiled tenderly at her. "Have you ever been kissed?"

"No."

"You're eighteen and no man has ever kissed you?"

"No man. But go on and tell me about love."

"It's probably the most abused word in the language. I don't know about defining it. It's a warm, rich feeling inside of you. You think about the person continually. He or she is in everything you do or think. And his touch or her touch is electric."

Those disturbing eyes again met his. He wanted to take her in his arms and kiss her . . . the first man to kiss her. He drew back and said:

"Noel, you're the first girl I've ever known I wanted to protect. Oh, you don't need it. But there's something about you that makes me think that love is going to hurt you, because you'll expect too much of it."

She wanted to say, "It hurts now, Scott. The touch, you said, was electric. I know . . . you have touched me. I know."

Did he love Linda she wondered. Apparently they were only friends. But each time that Linda looked at companion in poverty. Linda, this is Stephen Gordon, who counts his money and then adds half a dozen ciphers."

They made so much noise that people turned to see the reason for their hilarity. The three young men were all talking at once. Noel was smiling in surprise and Linda was blinking that anyone could be so rich and so human at the same time.

"My long lost pals restored," laughed Stephen. "Noel, I thank you from my heart. In college we were the three inseparables. Come up to the house. We can talk there."

They dressed and rode up to Stephen's house in Ned's car. He parked before a pretentious Spanish villa.

"Am I seeing right?" asked Linda. "Do you actually live here?"

"Aione," said Stephen merrily. "Aione" was what Elmer was marrying. This lovely villa on a hill, the magnificent yacht idling in the bay, the retinue of servants. She thought, "I would marry Scott and live in his dingy apartment. I would scrub floors until they shone and wear shabby clothes. I would do all that . . . and more . . . for him."

In the patio cold drinks were served. Stephen was beaming.

"I'm going to New York tonight to see my father, but I'm coming back in about three weeks and take a cruise, and you are all going along."

"I've got a job," said Scott. "Find somebody to take your place," he laughed, putting his arms around Scott and Ned. "I'm as happy as a school kid because I've found you two eggs again. It was dull here until Noel came along."

It was five o'clock when Stephen's guests left. They dropped Noel at the Stuart house, saying, "Come to town soon. Thanks for an elegant time."

In the faded drawing-room Aunt Jessica waited, pacing the rug. Elmer was nowhere in sight.

"Noel, come here," and when Noel stood before her, flushed and happy, she said vehemently, "Dalton told me about the people you invited here. You dared to invite those people here to my home! I've tried to make a civilized person out of you. It can't be done. You're just like your mother. I'm through with you, Noel; you shall not humiliate me before my servants again. Go back to your town friends. They'll shelter one of their kind. No, your sister doesn't want to see you."

Quietly she went upstairs, got down the old suitcase, packed her few belongings, and left the old house. On the highway she hailed the bus bound for the city and bound for . . . she knew not what.

NOT UP TO REQUIREMENTS

It seems there was a little girl who was an inmate of an orphan asylum. The superintendent there decided that her mentality was defective. She lagged behind other children of her age in her studies. So she was turned over to the State Home for the Feeble-Minded. On her arrival at the latter institution the little stranger was placed under expert observation for a period and then submitted to an official examination. As a result, the head physician decided that she was merely subnormal and accordingly she shortly was returned to where she had come from. The day afterward, two of the other inmates of the institution were discussing her. "Did you hear what happened to Janet?" said one of them.

"No—what?" asked the second.

"You know she was sent away to be an idiot, don't you?"

"Well, she couldn't pass and had to come back."

"WHAT delicious flavour!"
YOU MUST GIVE ME YOUR RECIPE"

● If it were practical to make corn flakes at home—it would be the QUAKER Corn Flake recipe for which women would be asking. Because Quaker Corn Flakes are better flavoured, more delicious and more temptingly toasty-crisp.

This is because they are made from a secret recipe—that brings out the full rich flavour of sun-ripened corn, improves it with quality ingredients and toasts it to a crunchy golden brown.

If, like most women, you are constantly seeking flavour in foods—try QUAKER CORN FLAKES. If you don't agree they are the most delicious you have ever tasted—your money will be refunded.
